POLICE BOARD WILL PROBE DEPARTMENT AT SPECIAL MEET

Chief Beavers Will Be Grilled at Session of Commissioners Called by Chairman for Tonight, Report

INQUIRY TO BE BASED ON COMPLAINT OF CITIZENS

While Both Factions of Board Will Not Discuss Meeting It Is Hinted There Will Be "Something Doing"

A special meeting of the board of police commissioners has been called for 8 o'clock tonight.

Basing their inquiries upon the recently published complaints of citizens about the department, it is said that the police commissioners are going to grill Chief of Police James L. Beavers.

It is also reported that the board may decide to have a committee appointed to vigorously investigate the department with a view to determining the efficiency of the chief. It has been reported that the police board will name two of its members to serve on this probing committee, and that it will ask two members of the general council and two citizens to serve on the same body.

While a fight on Chief Beavers has long been forecast in newspaper articles and the Beavers administration has been repeatedly criticised by Mayor Woodward, the campaign against Beavers is expected to really open at the meeting tonight.

MEMBERS WON'T TALK.

Chairman W. P. Fain did not call the meeting until Saturday morning, and since the call was issued efforts to locate him have proven futile. The majority of the members of the board profess ignorance of the purpose of the meeting. Included in the number who say that they know of no reason for the meeting are members of both factions.

Captain James W. English, former chairman of the board and one of the influential new members, indicated, however, that a lively time is to be expected at the meeting.

"What is the special meeting for?" a reporter asked him.

"Come down and see. I don't know what's in the mind of the chairman," he answered.

Captain English was asked to give a general idea of the purpose of the meeting.

"It seems to have been the policy of the board, said Captain English, to allow the chief to be chief in fact as well as name. And he seems to have been just that. Since I have been on the board he has not consulted me or asked my opinion or advice on any subject and neither have his officers.

"STRING TO DEPARTMENT."

"I have been disposed not to make an effort to change any policy of the board and, too, I have been willing for the chief to be chief in fact as well as name as long as I could.

"Well, has the turning point come?" Captain English was asked.

"Come down to the board meeting and see," was the only answer.

Captain English in discussing the policy of the board to allow Beavers to be chief in fact as well as name said: "There has been so much written on the police department that it seems to me that it reflects in a way on the board as it does on the department."

Captain English refused positively to discuss the proposed meeting more in detail.

WOULD PAY CLAIMS ON EMPIRE LIFE COMPANY

Commissioner W. A. Wright Asks Court for Instructions

Insurance Commissioner William A. Wright, receiver since January 8, 1915, for the Empire Life Insurance company of Atlanta, Friday afternoon filed with Judge W. D. Ellis a petition for instructions from the court for him to pay death claims amounting to $50,518.05 as fast as money comes in for such a purpose.

Commissioner Wright states that claims to the above amount existed April 1, on which time the cash on hand, after paying interest and taxes, was $26,022.06.

Commissioner Wright also asks that nine classes of beneficiaries, policyholders and creditors assemble in Judge Ellis' court for the purpose for being made plaintiffs in this request; Judge Ellis fixed May 1 as the day for this hearing, and ordered, by Commissioner Wright's request, that the petition be published in Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta and Macon papers. Attorney General Warren Grice and Attorney Robert C. and Philip H. Alston represent General Wright.

GRIFFIN SEEKS A PLACE ON NEW DIXIE HIGHWAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 10.—Griffin is making a vigorous effort to land a place on the "Dixie Highway." The "Griffin and Spalding board of trade" is leading the fight for a place on the route and it is expected that it will be successful. Already Spalding county has some of the best roads in the state and if Griffin is placed on the new highway these roads will be improved.

CHANGES IN PROCEDURE FOR COURTS SUGGESTED

Many changes, mostly in procedure, were suggested for the municipal court of Atlanta at a meeting of fifty lawyers and other in Judge John T. Pendleton's court room Saturday morning at 1:30 o'clock. As many of these suggestions as the Atlanta Bar association committee approves will be put before the state legislature next summer in the form of proposed statutes.

'Good Words' Editor To Leave Prison on Sunday, a Free Man

Elwyn A. Barron Gets Commutation of Sentence From Three Years to Present Service of One--Favorite Among Prisoners

After serving one year of a three years' sentence, Elwyn A. Barron, editor of "Good Words," has had his sentence commuted by President Wilson and will be released Sunday from the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

His entrance into freedom follows by little over a week that of Frederick A. Hyde, California millionaire and "angel of the prison," who was his roommate and close friend. Both bulked big in the prison life, and the farewell of Barron to Hyde was marked by two poems which he wrote just before the latter left him.

Barron was formerly advertising and publicity man for the Sterling Debenture corporation. He was convicted by the New York courts of using the mails in circulating his advertising matter to defraud. He was sentenced to three years, but on March 25 the president commuted his sentence to end after one year's imprisonment. This time will be up Sunday.

Barron, it was stated Saturday at the prison, will stay in Atlanta several days, stopping here with friends. Readers of "Good Words" since he assumed the editorship, several times have mentioned his work, editorially and in a number of poems. In the April issue he announced that he had received his commutation and bade his fellow prisoners farewell.

Wilson Believes He Is Getting Out of Duffer Class

LONDON, April 10.—The American luncheon club has received a letter from President Wilson acknowledging the gift of a set of golf sticks made for him by James Braid, the British open champion, and sent by the club.

"I keep myself going by playing golf," President Wilson wrote, "and the clubs have been of the greatest service and pleasure to me. I really sometimes begin to think I am getting out of the duffer class."

WILD SCENES ATTEND OPENING OF EXCHANGE

Stock Prices Lifted Throughout the List--U. S. Steel Leads

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Scenes of wild excitement attended renewal of operations on the stock exchange today. The trading floor was crowded with members and the visitors' gallery was lined with spectators, many of them women in gay attire. Over night buying orders and a further stampede of the short interest lifted prices throughout the list, gains extending from one to three points in speculative favorites and specialties.

United States Steel, leader of yesterday's spectacular movement, again was the chief feature, opening with a block of 15,000 shares at 57 to 57 3-4, and soon advancing to 58. Bethlehem Steel was the only prominent stock to hold back, declining two points. Rock Island's was the most erratic issue, rising almost four points and soon losing all its advance.

Trading during the first half hour was on the largest scale for any like period in the recent history of the exchange. Recessions, ranging from a fraction to two points ensued soon after the initial outburst on heavy profit-taking.

Sales in the first hour exceeded half a million shares, which surpassed all records since 1909, the year of the great speculative boom. Prices continued to react under the weight of increased realizing sales and many gains were wiped out, some of the standard shares selling materially under yesterday's close. Steel was conspicuous in this connection, declining to 55 1-2. Its contribution to the business of the first hour was 117,000 shares.

COUNCIL MOURNS LOSS OF JUDGE WILKINSON

The city council Friday afternoon paid a tribute to the memory of the late Judge John R. Wilkinson, for many years ordinary of the county, by naming a special committee to draft suitable resolutions of regret for the loss of a distinguished citizen and of sympathy for the family.

The committee is composed of Alderman Seawright, Councilman Farlinger and City Attorney Mayson.

JITNEY ORDINANCE SIGNED BY MAYOR AND IS NOW A LAW

Regulation of Jitney Cars Prescribed in Ordinance Which Passes General Council After Debate Last Night

NEW LAW BECOMES EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Mayor Declares Owners Must Pay License at Once; City Attorney Holds That Old License Is Good Until July 1

Mayor Woodward Saturday morning approved the jitney bus ordinance which was passed by council Friday night at 8 o'clock after a five-hour debate and the ordinance by virtue of the mayor's approval is now in effect.

But here rises a difference of opinion between Mayor Woodward and City Attorney Mayson as to whether the jitney buses, which are now operating under auto-for-hire licenses, must pay the new jitney bus tax required by the new ordinance, or whether the auto-for-hire tax which they have paid up to July 1 entitles them to operate subject to jitney bus regulations.

Mayor Woodward holds that the enactment of the jitney bus ordinance supercedes the auto-for-hire license under which the jitneys are now operating and that the jitneys must at once take out the new jitney licenses and pay the new jitney tax or else he will direct the chief of police to arrest them.

City Attorney Mayson holds that the issuance of auto-for-hire licenses to the jitneys constituted a binding contract upon the city which entitles them to operate until the expiration of the time for which they paid the auto-for-hire tax, subject to the other regulations imposed by the jitney ordinance and that they will no have to pay the new jitney tax until July 1.

Having such a ruling in the city attorney's support them, it is expected that the jitneys, although a once aking out new licenses will object to paying the new tax until July 1, and some very interesting complications will probably ensue.

G. H. Kelley, promoter of a jitney bus company, says that he believes the jitneys can live under the ordinance, if they can live at all.

Notwithstanding the adoption of the amendments the ordinance is still quite strict.

The Ashley-Freeman-Ragsdale amendment reducing the license from $100 to $75 on small cars, $150 to $100 on seven passenger cars, and $200 to $150 on big buses, was the first adopted.

MUST NAME ROUTE.

The provision requiring the applicant for a license to set forth the route he intends to run remained unchanged.

The provision requiring a $5,000 bond for each car also remained unchanged. It is possible that jitney bus owners may take this point to the courts, they contend that it is unfair to force the jitneys to give a bond, when taxicabs and hacks are not bonded. They claim the bond to be unjust discrimination.

Amendments by Councilman Claude Ashley to the provisions requiring the applicant to file photographs of himself with the clerk, and requiring him to have an identification card.

Amendments by the same councilman strick sections of the ordinance prohibiting drivers from operating a car before it has been inspected at the municipal garage and prohibiting buses from following each other in the same block.

Buses are allowed to stop between streets, but must draw up at the curb before taking on or letting off passengers.

Drivers are prohibited from soliciting fares in "loud or boisterous" tones.

FIVE CENTS FOR FARES.

It is made unlawful for jitney drivers to attempt to charge more than a five-cent fare.

Buses are required to show their routes by signs.

No man convicted of a violation of the city or state criminal laws is eligible as a driver.

Council reserves the right to cancel licenses, and licenses are issued subject to the right of council to amend the ordinance.

Drivers are to be furnished a badge by the city clerk and are required to wear this badge while operating a car.

One of the most important amendments to the ordinance requires that passengers shall not ride on the running board of the cars, and the number of passengers is limited to the number of people, who can get into the body of the car.

CARS MUST BE SANITARY.

Other sections of the ordinance requires that the cars be kept in a sanitary condition and that the drivers fully identify themselves before a license can issue. Cars cannot have a terminus at Five Points.

No formal objection has been voiced to the regulations of the ordinance, although the jitney owners claim that the license fee is much higher than is charged in many other cities and they are insistent in the contention that it is unfair to force jitney owners to give bonds while hacks and taxi cabs are not bonded.

The jitney ordinance as amended was finally adopted at 8 o'clock Friday night after council had been in continuous session since 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

In the early part of the session council as a committee of the whole heard from the public.

President Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway & Power Co., asking a high license, declared that the exclusive tendency of the jitneys, if they are successful, will be toward injuring the reliable transportation service in the city.

In discussing the taxes against the power company he referred in a semi-humorous vein to Marietta street. The widening and repaving of that street cost the power company $86,000, he said, and after that had been cheerfully paid the company voluntarily donated

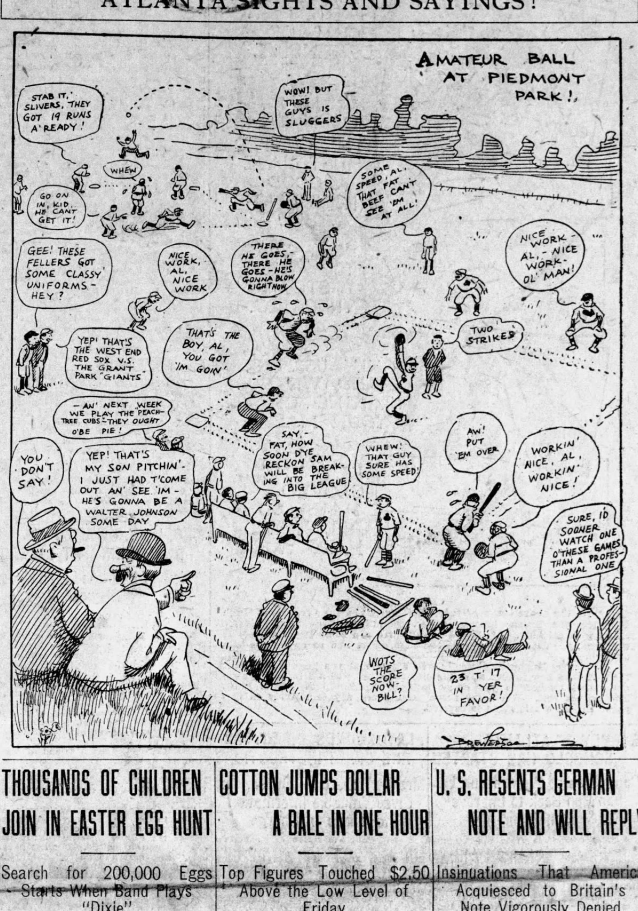
ATLANTA SIGHTS AND SAYINGS!



THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN JOIN IN EASTER EGG HUNT

Search for 200,000 Eggs Starts When Band Plays "Dixie"

With sunshine and fair skies above them, thousands of Atlanta youngsters skurried through Grant park this afternoon in eager search for 200,000 candy eggs, peeking out between tufts of grass on bank and hillside.

Now and then there came a scream of joy, announcing that some youngster had grabbed a wooden egg, which meant a fine prize from one of the Atlanta merchants who donated thirty-three premiums. The golden egg, which wins a $5 cash prize, was the object of much search.

And so the annual Easter egg hunt of The Journal and the city park board began in a flurry of fun. Long before 3 o'clock the kiddies were banked about the area where the eggs were hidden, and when the band played "Dixie" there was a shout and a tremendous rush. In two minutes, it seemed, the whole area was alive with children, and for hours afterward they were busy poking about in the underbrush.

A full list of the prize winners will be published in tomorrow's Journal.

SOUTHERN TO RAISE RATE TO MEET CUMMING LAW

Judge Signs Order Allowing Tombs Prisoner to Take "Reasonable Exercise"

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Harry K. Thaw, held in the Tombs awaiting a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court on his appeal from an order of Justice Page to send him back to Matteawan asylum, may enjoy today his first stroll about the streets of New York in many a day. Under order of Supreme Court Justice Ingraham, obtained by Thaw's counsel, Sheriff Grifenhagen was permitted within his discretion to allow Thaw to take "reasonable exercise at reasonable hours." The nature of this exercise depends on the sheriff's judgement.

Reports that Thaw would be seen in places he formerly visited here were denied by Abel I. Smith, of Thaw's counsel, who said "there will be no parties of joy rides, theaters, or anything of that kind. The fact as far as the law is concerned, is an innocent man and he has a right to proper care and should not have his health impaired. That is the reason the justice signed the order to allow him exercise."

WILSON WILL NOT ATTEND ILLINOIS WATERWAY MEET

Sends Wire to Governor Dunne Expressing His Sympathy With Project

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Wilson has declined an invitation to attend a waterways meeting at La Salle, Ill., but today sent this telegram to Governor Dunne:

"I am in sympathy with your desire to improve navigable waters of the United States in such manner as to encourage actual commercial navigation on a permanent basis. A through Waterroute from the great lakes to the Mississippi and down the Mississippi to New Orleans where connections with seagoing vessels can be made should afford a valuable opportunity for the development of such commerce."

COTTON JUMPS DOLLAR A BALE IN ONE HOUR

Top Figures Touched $2.50 Above the Low Level of Friday

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Cotton went up a dollar a bale in an active and excited market in the first hour of trading today. Top figures touched $2.50 a bale above the low level of yesterday morning, and a new high record was made for the year and the movement. Values today soared to $15 a bale more than the low prices of last December.

An avalanche of buying orders swept the market. Wall street and commission houses bought heavily, and the big advance in Liverpool added new snap to the movement.

The strength of the stock market was reflected. Other factors influencing the upward trend were reports of improvement in the general trade situation, and more hopeful view of the European peace prospects.

Realizing caused moderate reactions late in the morning, but the close was steady at a net advance of 11 to 15 points.

HARRY THAW MAY TAKE STROLL IN NEW YORK

Increased Risk Makes Step Necessary, Says Freight Traffic Manager

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 10. Lincoln Green freight traffic manager of the Southern railway, announced before the interstate commerce commission today that his road proposed to increase rates 5 per cent where considered necessary, if rejected through the change in liabilities by the new Cummins amendement to the rate law, effective June 3.

The increase will be proposed to become effective October 1, and will affect both class and commodities. Exemption will be made in some cases where the road believes the risk will not be increased.

R. B. Scott, general attorney of the Burlington, speaking for roads in western territory, said he would not undertake to say an increase of 10 per cent was justified, but that he did "think we will be subjected to serious injury and should have some increase."

The amendment becomes effective June 30. The uniform bill of lading approved by the commission several years ago allows a limited liability for the carriers for one rate and a full liability at 10 per cent higher rate. The Cummins amendment makes it compulsory on all roads not to limit their liabilities.

LANIER MONUMENT TO BE UNVEILED SATURDAY

Exercises Will Be Held in Piedmont Park at 3:30 o'Clock

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the monument to Sidney Lanier, erected under a provision in the will of Mrs. Livinston Mims, will be unveiled at Piedmont park. The monument cost $2,500.

Robert F. Maddox will formally turn the monument over to the city. Mayor Woodward and Ben Lee Crew, of the park board, will accept it on behalf of the city. Ben Lee Crew, Jr., will unveil it.

Governor Slaton will deliver an address on "Lanier, the Poet."

U. S. RESENTS GERMAN NOTE AND WILL REPLY

Insinuations That America Acquiesced to Britain's Note Vigorously Denied

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Vigorous denial, it was said today, would be made by the American government that it had virtually acquiesced in the British order in council prohibiting trade with Germany as intimated by the German government in a note complaining of the United States' failure in its negotiations with the allies to obtain for American exporters the right to ship foodstuffs to the civilian population of a belligerent. Work of preparing the American reply already has been begun.

The attention of the American government is called by Germany to the fact that arms and ammunition are daily being shipped from the United States to the allied and points out that while this government insists on its legal right to make such shipments it does not press with equal vigor its right to ship foodstuffs and non-contraband articles to Germany's civilian population.

Germany contends that regardless of formal aspects of the question of arms shipments to belligerents the spirit of neutrality would, it is observed and in support of which reference is made to utterances of president Wilson before congress in which he said that shipment of arms into Mexico would be forbidden.

Officials point out the relations between the United States and Mexico cannot be compared to those with the European belligerents and that the president is without legal means to exercise the same authority with reference to the belligerents.

The American government maintains that the position regarding arms shipments has all along been enforced impartially as to all belligerents.

CHARTER IS GRANTED FOR MRS. WILSON MEMORIAL

Many Prominent Women of Georgia Are Named as Incorporators

Judge W. D. Ellis Saturday granted a charter to twenty-one Atlanta women for a memorial to the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, to be known as the "Ellen Wilson Memorial," with its object the Christian education of mountain youth.

The corporation will have no capital stock; donations will be received for an endowment fund; this fund will be controlled by the executive committee of home missions of the Presbyterian church of the United States; the income from the fund will be used for the educational purposes.

The incorporators are Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Mrs. T. H. Latham, Mrs. Archibald Davis, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. S. M. Inman, Mrs. Bowling Jones, Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, Mrs. J. S. Akers, Mrs. Robert Foreman, Mrs. Alfred E. Buck, Mrs. Hugh Knox, Mrs. Seaborn Wright, Mrs. R. I. Hughes and Mrs. Harry E. Kirk.

Attorney W. M. Everett filed the petition.

DESPONDENCY BLAMED FOR SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Mrs. W. White, a young widow, 26 Capitol place, who tried to end her life by taking bichloride of mercury Friday night, was reported Saturday at the Grady to be doing well. Despondency is said to be the cause of her act. She was found unconscious across her bed when Grady physicians arrived.

CAPTURE OF VILLAGE GIVES JOFFRE'S MEN STRATEGICAL VANTAGE

French Are Pushing Offensive to Throw Back Wedge Germans Hold in Allies' Line at St. Mihiel

FRENCH ATTACKS AID TO RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE

Germany Can Not Spare Men to Aid Austrians--Talk of Separate Peace With Dual Monarchy Revived

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 10.—The French, with the capture of Les Eparges, have obtained one of the main objects of their advance southeastward from Verdun. The position at Les Eparges dominates the plains of the Woevre, and its occupation by the French is announced officially. Progress from Verdun means heavier pressure on the northern flank of the Germans holding St. Mihiel, while the southern flank is threatened by the French advance between Pont-a-Mousson and the Meuse.

In the southern part of this field of operations the Germans are delivering almost continuous counter attacks. They have made fifteen assaults on one point.

It is evident that the French are not only attempting to capture St. Mihiel, which always has been a danger point since its wedge was driven into the line of the allies, but are at the same time seeking to aid Russia by preventing the withdrawal of German corps for the relief of the hard-pressed Austrian and German forces in the Carpathians.

Rumors that Austria is about to conclude a separate peace grow in number and persistency every day. These are accompanied by evidences that Italy is showing increasing uneasiness over the situation.

Austria Will Not Attack Serbia Again; Now on efensive

(By Associated Press.)

GENEVA, Via Paris, April 10.—Austria has abandoned the idea of launching a fresh offensive against Serbia, says the Tribune, and will remain strictly on the defensive in order to augment its military corps in the Italian frontier. The paper says it was decided at Vienna to sound Russia on the subject of peace terms, but that it is impossible to know what the result has been.

The Russians made important captures of artillery and war munitions in the recent Carpathian fighting, according to the Italian war office in Rome. In the county of Saros alone they took two batteries of twelve-inch mortars, four other batteries of different calibres, forty quick firers and 700 shells for the twelve-inch guns.

Figures received here purporting to come from the Austrian general staff place at 26,000 the losses in the battle on the Dukla-Eperies front.

French Schooner Sent to Bottom by Enemy Submarine

(By Associated Press.)

LE TREPORT, France, April 10.—The French three masted ship Chateaubriand, from London for New York with a cargo of shells, was sunk by a German submarine off the Isle of Wight at 11 a. m. Thursday. The crew was saved.

Captain Grondin and the 24 men aboard the vessel were given ten minutes by the German commander to launch their two boats. The Chateaubriand was then torpedoed. After drifting about all the rest of the day and all that night in bitter cold weather and without food, they landed at the French coast yesterday morning, landing here safely.

The Chateaubriand, a ship of 2,029 tons sailed from London April 4.

Italian Mass Meetings Favor War at Once

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, April 9.—(Via Paris, April 10.)—Both the parties which favor Italy's entering the war and those which favor neutrality have made preparations to hold mass meetings Sunday throughout the country, but the police have forbidden many gatherings. Leaders in both movements, however, insist that the meetings will be held either in private halls or public squares. The authorities already are arranging police and military, measures to prevent disorders.

Sentiment Growing in Russia For Austrian Separate Peace

(By Associated Press.)

MILAN, April 10.—(Via Paris, April 10.)—A special dispatch from Petrograd says the insistent reports heard in the Russian capital of negotiations for a separate peace with Austria are based on the supposition that Galicia and probably some other territory would be exchanged with Russia for guarantees of the preservation of Austrian integrity in the Transylvanian provinces. Sentiment in favor of a separate peace with Austria is said to be increasing in Russia.

6,000 Bales of American Cotton Burned at Naples

(By Associated Press.)

NAPLES, April 9.—(Via Paris, April 10.)—Six thousand bales of American cotton aboard steamer San Guglielmo were destroyed by fire in the harbor here today. The loss is estimated at 1,000,000 lire ($200,000). Firemen, customs guards and troops were unable to extinguish the flames before the cargo was ruined.

The San Guglielmo, an Italian steamer of 5,000 tons, sailed from Galveston March 16 for Genoa and Naples by way of New York.

JOURNAL WAR PICTURES BEGIN MONDAY AT LYRIC

Exciting Scenes of Battlefields in Four Reels--Exhibitions Four Times Daily

Arrangements have been completed for the exhibition of The Atlanta Journal and New York Sun's war pictures at the Lyric all next week, and the first performance will begin Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This will be followed by exhibitions at 4, 7:30 and 9 o'clock every day of the week.

These motion pictures were gathered by the very best camera experts who reached the European war fields. They come from France, Germany and Belgium, and they show everything that has been reached by a camera. The New York Sun made the collection from the best pictures of many film companies, and in New York, Philadelphia and other large cities the duplicates of this film have been run week after week to constantly growing crowds. There are four reels of the films.

While cavalry and infantry charges are shown, with desperate men storming trenches held by an enemy equally desperate, artillery duels and opposing earthworks peopled with soldiers firing upon each other, there are lighter touches shown. For instance, in almost every picture illustrating the flight of noncombatants from the war-torn sections the household pets of the refugees impart a touch of comedy. Such an instance is found in the action of the friendly and hospitable Belgian dogs welcoming the invading German hosts with tails awag and yelping in happy chorus. Again the children contribute a relief from the sombre and sordid tale of strife, for even in their pitiful plight the round and ruddy Flemish youngsters cannot refrain from childish pranks that are the more amusing because of their ghastly background of waste and desolation.

Nor is the comedy element confined to children and dumb pets. The absolute suspension of all law and conventionality, pretense, sham and the veneer of centuries has left the people of the unhappy lands where war wages in a primitive state. Primary instincts rule, and it is no uncommon thing to witness scenes far funnier than anything ever intentionally posed for a comedy picture. As an example, a procession of thousands of Flemish, fleeing for life before the oncoming Prussians, with all their portable possessions packed on their backs or heads, is shown halted and utterly forgetful of its purpose because of curiosity aroused by a motion picture camera.

SUPPORTERS SOUGHT FOR SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Women Circulate Petition to Legislature in Three Wards of Atlanta

The Fulton and DeKalb counties branch of the Equal Suffrage party of Georgia Saturday morning launched a campaign in three wards of the city of Atlanta to secure signers to a petition urging the legislature to submit to the voters of the state a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote.

The wards being canvassed Saturday are the fourth, eighth and ninth. There is a general captain, ten precinct captains in each ward, and four helpers for each precinct captain. The canvass will be made from house to house and will cover the wards thoroughly. Men and women will be asked to sign. It is hoped in these three wards to obtain 15,000 signatures.

This campaign is a part of a general statewide campaign which the local suffrage organizations will make in their respective communities before the next session of the legislature, and when the suffrage leaders go before the lawmakers they propose to submit the strongest showing in the history of the movement in this state.

In addition to the canvass, the suffragettes of Atlanta are very much interested in the address to be delivered at the auditorium next Tuesday night by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw under the joint auspices of three suffrage organizations of the city. Dr. Shaw is one of the world's famous women and is probably the ablest advocate, male or female, of votes for women in America.

NEGRO IS MAIN WITNESS AGAINST TWO WARRENS

Tom Barge Will Testify Monday as to Alleged Plot to Burn Store

Tom Barge, colored, himself indicted for arson, will be the main witness for the state Monday in the trial of S. D. Warren, charged with arson. After his testimony, it is expected that the state will rest, and the defense then will introduce the hundred witnesses summoned to testify as to the character of S. D. Warren and his brother, J. E. Warren, who is also charged with arson.

Barge, at the time of his arrest, testified that he had arranged to fire Warren brothers' furniture store on Peters street last November under instructions from the two brothers. The store did catch fire about 7 o'clock on a Saturday night; thirty firemen, with Fire Chief Cummings, were endangered when explosions occurred in the building. It was said these explosions were due to hats and pots filled with gasoline and kerosene with which, he said, he had saturated the walls on the second floor.

SERGEANT WHATLEY TO GET A PENSION

The city council Friday afternoon passed favorably upon the application for a pension of Sergeant J. W. Whatley, for 25 years a member of the city police force.

On the application Sergeant Whatley says that in 1901, he was shot and badly wounded by a negro; he was kicked in the adbomen and injured again by a black in 1903; his horse fell on him and dislocated his shoulder in 1910, and as the result of his many injuries he is physically unable to continue his duties.

Negro Convict Escapes

City and county police searched in vain Friday night for Will Dodson, 30 years old, a negro convict who escaped from the Roseland camp early in the night. Dodson is five feet six inches tall, weighs 417 pounds, and has a long scar on his left cheek and a small scar on his nose.

THE JOURNAL'S SCHOOL OF BASEBALL

Hints for the Young Catcher---No. 1

BY HUGH FULLERTON

With the above lesson-picture, The Journal begins a feature of Hugh Fullerton, the famous baseball editor, specially for the boys. Hughie starts with catching. After that he will give you some important points on pitching. Then first base, second base, short and so on all the way through.

Of course, Hughie is perfectly well aware that you know a lot about the game and how to play it, so his picture-lessons will not be long drawn-out stories on how to play every position. They will be helpful hints. You do the rest. Watch for them. One every day exclusively in this paper till the whole game is covered.

SURVEY OF ATLANTA SCHOOLS HAS STARTED

Committee of Women and Labor Men Seek to Improve Conditions

A joint committee from the Atlanta Federation of Trades and the AAtlanta School Improvement association Friday commenceed a survey of the Atlanta public schools for the purpose of ascertaining conditions and reporting the same to council with a demand that the necessary appropriations be forthcoming to place the schools on a high standard.

The Atlanta School Improvement association has already surveyed the schools and ascertained conditions in detail, so therefore the committee from this organization was not embarking upon a new mission but was taking the committee from the Federation of Trades to see what they had been before and were familiar with.

On the improvement association committee were Mrs. F. M. Walker, president of the association, and Mrs. Clark Howell, Mrs. J. E. Sommerfield and Mrs. Joseph Moody.

On the federation committee were Jerome Jones, J. M. Shearer, G. W. Bryant, S. A. Albright and J. R. New.

The committees visited six schools and found many things which need to be corrected, such as overcrowding, insanitary plumbing, inadequate lighting, incomplete equipment, small and unkempt playgrounds, etc.

The committees will continue until they have surveyed all the schools.

CHARGES MADE AGAINST POLICEMAN NEWPORT

O. J. Tiffany, local manager of the American Tobacco company, has complained to Chairman Fain and other members of the police board about the alleged mistreatment of E. W. Bell, an employe of Mr. Tiffany's arrested on a charge of tacking a sign on a vacant building.

Mr. Tiffany charges that Policeman Newport, who made the arrest, refused to allow Bell to telephone him or to see anyone except I. C. Clark, a professional bondsman. Bell was not released until after he had been in a cell two hours, Mr. Tiffany charges. Recorder Johnson fined Bell $1.75.

BULLET'S WHIZZ SOUNDS LIKE DEATH TO NEGROES

Fannie Miller, a negress living in the rear of 277 South Pryor street, told Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon she thought some one was trying to murder her Thursday night when a bullet whizzed by her head. T. M. B. Bloodworth, 277 South Pryor, who was before the recorder charged with firing the bullet, said an automatic pistol of his went off accidentally. Recorder Johnson dismissed the case.

SCHOOL GIRLS PRESENT SPRING FESTIVAL TONIGHT

Advance Sale of Tickets Indicates Record Crowd Will Be Present

Advance sale of tickets to the spring festival of the Girls' High school and the English Commercial High school at the auditorium Saturday night, indicates that a record crowd will attend. The box office opened at the auditorium Saturday morning and the sale continued briskly.

The curtain will go up promptly at 8 o'clock, and the audience is urged to be present then. Those who come later will be admitted by the Gilmer street entrance.

The festival is in three parts, "Spring Astir," "Spring Awakening" and "Spring Awake." Over 500 girls, including the seniors of both schools, take part in the program, which numbers many songs choruses and fancy dances.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.—(Advt.)

FIRE AT BAINBRIDGE CAUSED $50,000 LOSS

Ice Plant, Three Negro Churches and Thirty-Five Dwellings Burn

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., April 10.—Fire that started in a barn late yesterday afternoon destroyed fifty-five houses, three negro chuches, a big cooperage plant and the only ice plant in the city. The loss is estimated at $50,000. One negro child was burned to death before it could be removed from a house.

Within a half hour from the time that the fire was first discovered the flames were beyond control, the city's water pressure pumps having broken down. The flames swept through an entire business block and threatened for a time to destroy the whole city. Four blocks of negro houses were burned.

During the fire an ammonia tank in the ice plant exploded, scattering fragments of iron over a wide area. One piece of iron was hurled through the Atlantic Coast Line station, 150 yards away. Only one person, however, was struck.

The chief losers are Hussbaum Brothers, the Oak City Cooperage company, the ice plant of the Bainbridge Ice company, the cold storage warehouse and bottling works, and the Bainbridge Commission company, wholesale grocers. The property was partly insured.

Among the other losers were Swift & Co., J. M. Floyd and Dr. V. M. Berry.

Fire at Elberton Destroys Warehouse

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ELBERTON, Ga., April 10.—McLanahan Brothers' brick stables and vehicle warehouse were burned early this morning. All live stock was saved. The loss in building, wagons and buggies and feedstuff over and above insurance is $4,500. While fire forces were at work trying to save the balance of the business block the Snellings house, a block and a half away, caught fire and burned. This building was owned by Mrs. W. B. Adams and was insured.

MRS. W. E. ORMOND IS RECOVERING AT LINGO'S

Widow of Murdered Man Never Attacked Accused Negro in Court

Mrs. W. E. Ormond, widow of W. E. Ormond, who was overcome in Judge Hill's court room Thursday afternoon after a jury had acquitted Tom Ballard, colored, of the charge of murdering Mr. Ormond, was reported Saturday morning to be doing very well at the Lingo hospital, 88 Cooper street.

Miss Willis Ormond, who also was overcome after the trial, is reported to be very much better at her home, 42 Windsor street.

Mrs. G. W. Cooper, a friend of Miss Ormond and Mrs. Ormond, who was present Thursday afternoon in Judge Hill's court, said that Mrs. Ormond never tried to attack the negro, as was reported.

"Mrs. Ormond, muttering 'there's no justice in Georgia,' or words of similar import, ran out of the court room and fell on the marble floor in front of the elevator in convulsions. But she never even went near the negro," said Mrs. Cooper.

CORN PRODUCTS CO. HEARING ON MONDAY

Testimony will be taken in the federal building Monday in the case against the Corn Products Refining company, which at one time was said to control the glucose industry of the country. The government's effort will be to show that the company used trust methods.

The chief witness against the company will be D. R. Wilder, of the D. R. Wilder Syrup Manufacturing company, who will tell of efforts he made to buy products from other companies.

CONTRACTOR BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

E. D. Sharkey, a contractor working on the excavation for the new Connally building, was fined $16.75 by Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon for firing his revolver in the city limits and was bound over on the charge of assault with intent to kill Iqom Holley, a negro butler.

THEATERS

Edward Peple's farce, "A Pair of Sixes" that is said to contain more hearty laughs to the minute than any other play in recent years, will be the attraction at the Atlanta theater as a matinee today and tonight. Oscar Figman and Orlando Daly play the leading male roles, while Mary Harper is the leading woman. One of the quaintest characters ever put on the stage is that of Coddles, the slavey, which is portrayed by Adelyn Wesley, who is inimitable when it comes to visualizing a role of this character. The play gets its name from a poker game played in the first act.

Today's performances at the Grand will be the last by Robert Warwick in "The Man Who Found Himself," a World photo-drama in five reels. "The Man Who Found Himself" drew great crowds at all performances Friday. Warwick is at his best. No pains or money have been spared in making it the most spectacular World creation yet produced.

The exacting tastes of Atlanta's vaudeville lovers are well satisfied this week in the unusual collection of offerings at the Forsyth. The six American Dancers have brought back from a recent tour abroad the newest and most spectacular dance creations, as well as elaborate mounting for their act, and Alberta Moore and Myrtle Young, vaudeville's freshest and sweetest girl act, display stunning costumes and irresistible personalities. Next week comes Murphy and Nichols, in the celebrated "From Zaza to Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Anna Pavlowa, who comes to the Atlanta Monday night for one appearance only will wear some of the very newest creations of Paquin, world-noted designer of styles for women. These costumes will be of particular interest to fashionable women, for the gowns are the last word in evening apparel.

The famous artists—Baxst and Anisfeld—have been much in the public eye of late. They created much of the scenery used last season by Pavlowa. Because their work was so genuinely appreciated by art critics and public alike, Mlle. Pavlowa commissioned Baxst and Anisfeld to work out some of the scenery and effects for her new ballets and divertissements for her present tour.

ARBITRATION BOARD TO FIX TAXES ON W. & A.

Having disagreed to the assessment of $4,500,000 fixed upon its property by Comptroller General William A. Wright, the Atlanta & West Point railroad on Friday notified the comptroller general that it would submit the question of its tax returns to arbitration. The road returned its taxes for 1915 at $3,000,000 which figure was rejected by the comptroller general.

It will probably be several weeks before the question is arbitrated. The railroad company will appoint one arbitrator; the comptroller general will name one from the members of the state railroad commission, and if these two fail to agree they will choose a third.

GREAT BRITAIN OFFERING WORK TO MEN OF U. S.

Employment Bureau at Newark Is Asked to Furnish 400 Men

(By Associated Press.)

NEWARK, N. J., April 10.—A private employment bureau service here, it was learned today, has received urgent requests from several industrial centers of Great Britain for more than 400 men to take the places of workmen who are at the front. The call is for American and British subjects only. The factories seeking the workmen offer free transportation and a guarantee of at least six months' work. Two hundred of the men already have sailed.

One of the largest electrical manufacturing concerns in Liverpool has sent a demand for 1,000 men, according to information received by the Newark bureau.

DENIES SUBMARINE F-4 WAS NOT IN GOOD SHAPE

Flotilla Commander Says No Complaint of Lost Boat's Condition Was Made

HONOLULU, T. H., April 10.—Lieutenant Charles E. Smith, commander of the submarine flotilla here, referring to statements that the lost submarine F-4 was unfit when she began her last cruise said today: "If there was anything wrong with the F-4, no one except her officers knew of it."

A new motor, he said, recently was installed in the F-4 because of an accident to the old motor. A recent explosion aboard the submarine was no fault of the apparatus, according to Lieutenant Smith, who said that when the vessel was blowing out and charging simultaneously, a screwdriver caused a short-circuit, occasioning an explosion of hydrogen gas.

GEN. CARRANZA REFUSES TO NEUTRALIZE RAILROAD

U. S. Officials Disappointed by Failure to Open Line to Foreigners

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Failure of negotiations on the part of the American government with the Mexican factions for the neutralization of the Mexican capital and the railroad between that city and Vera Cruz as the result of General Carranza's refusal to give his assent to the proposals, caused much disappointment in official circles today.

The Villa-Zapata faction had agreed to the proposition. General Carranza gave military reasons for his action.

Acceptance of the proposals would have enabled foreigners in Mexico City to travel to and from that city. Officials of the state department hope the railroads between the Mexican capital and the American border, now interrupted by military operations, soon will be repaired and accomplish the same end.

Officials were hopeful also that the Villa authorities at Chihuahua will not enforce their recent decree for the forfeiture of mines upon which taxes are not paid or upon which development work is suspended beyond a stated period, protest against which has been lodged by the department. The decree, it is asserted, would work undue hardships on foreigners, including Americans, who own Mexican mines.

Battle Has Been Raging For Two Days in Mexico

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO, MAZATLAN, April 9.—By Radio to San Diego, Cal., April 10.—A battle between Carranza forces under General Carazo and Villa followers in command of Gen. Buelna, has been raging for two days at Lamurella, Sinaloa, south of Mazatlan. Only meager reports of hostilities have been received.

Added by four ninety-millimeter guns, manned by Ex-Federal artillery troops, recently brought to Mazatlan by the gunboat Guerrero, the Carranza forces have taken the offensive.

TO SPEND $1,000,000 TO STUDY ANIMAL DISEASES

Rockefeller Foundation Soon to Begin Work on Plant Near Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., April 10.—The Rockefeller foundation announced today it soon would begin work on construction of a new plant near Princeton for study of animal diseases. The ground buildings and equipment will cost, it is estimated, $1,000,000.

At an expense of $100,000 the foundation has purchased 480 acres southeast of Lake Carnegie. The plans include a completely equipped laboratory for study of bacteriology in its relation to diseases of the lower animals and cognate human diseases. Special attention will be paid hoof and mouth disease.

Dr. Leopold Smith, now professor of comparative pathology at Harvard, will take charge of the new institution. He will associate other eminent scientists with him.

AMERICAN SHIPBUILDING SHOWS SOME DECREASE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—American shipbuilding during the nine months ending March 31 has not kept pace with construction during the same period of the previous year.

Department of commerce statistics issued today show 714 vessels of all classes, with an aggregate tonnage of 153,326, were built during the past nine months while in the same period a year ago 881 vessels with a total tonnage of 215,059 were built.

FRANCIS BITTER, FAMOUS SCULPTOR, KILLED BY AUTO

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Karl Theodore Francis Bitter, chief of the department of sculpture of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and one of the best known American sculptors, died in a hospital here today of injuries received when he and Mrs. Bitter were run down last night by an automobile on Broadway. Mrs. Bitter's injuries are not serious.

Mr. Bitter, a native of Vienna, came to America in 1889 and made his home in this city. He was 47 years old.

TWO CABINET OFFICIALS TO SPEAK TO STUDENTS

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Two cabinet officers have made plans for college speech making in the south soon. Secretary Houston will next Tuesday deliver the speech of presentation of a statue of Thomas Jefferson to the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, will speak May 24 at the graduation exercises of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical college.

ALASKA WILL VOTE ON PROHIBITION IN 1916

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 10.—The Alaska senate yesterday passed a bill submitting territorial prohibition to the voters at the November election in 1916. The bill has already passed the house. If the voters approve prohibition, it will become effective January 1, 1918.

HONG KONG REQUIRES PASSPORTS OF ALL

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Authorities at Hong Kong require all persons passing through that colony to show passports, according to advices to the state department from American consul general there. A contrary impression had prevailed among American tourists, it was said, resulting in much inconvenience to them.

GARRISON TO SPEAK ON THE NATIONAL DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Secretary Garrison left today for New York where he will speak tonight on national defense at the third annual banquet of the Democratic club of Westchester county. Mr. Garrison will remain in New York until next Tuesday night when he will deliver an address on Democracy at the Jefferson day dinner of the national Democratic club.

DOCTOR KILLS GIRL, HER FATHER AND HIMSELF

Two Americans Victims of Colombian Whose Suit Had Been Rejected

PANAMA, Friday, April 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The little island of St. Andres, off the north coast of Colombia, has just been the scene of a triple tragedy involving an American and his daughter and a native physician who recently graduated from a medical school in Memphis, Tenn., according to information arriving by schooner. Dr. Z. Pusey first killed a Miss Robinson and then shot her father, Theodore Robinson, later turning his revolver upon himself, blowing out his brains.

For some time the doctor had been a frequent visitor at the home of the Robinsons and finally paid Miss Robinson marked attention. His suit, however, was not viewed with favor by the young woman's parents and the physician was given to understand that he must cease his visits.

On the morning of March 23 Miss Robinson, accompanied by friends, started on a horseback ride into the country. A short distance from the little town they were met by Dr. Pusey who demanded that Miss Robinson accompany him to his office. This she refused to do. The doctor then fired one shot from his revolver into the back of her head, killing her instantly. Later the physician met Mr. Robinson who had heard of his daughter's death. He also was killed instantly. The doctor then went to his office, where he committed suicide.

ADEL PUPILS CARRY OFF SCHOOL MEET HONORS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ADEL, Ga., April 10.—Adel is rejoicing over the success of the pupils of the school in the Eleventh congressional district contest at Quitman last night. Miss Dot Mullis won first place in recitation and Harvey Griffin won first place in declamation and running high jump. All the principal schools in the district were represented. These young people will represent the district in the state contest at Athens. Miss Mullis recited "The Swan Song," and Mr. Griffin delivered "The Social Pariah."

WILKESBARRE STREET CAR STRIKE ARBITRATED

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 10.—Agreement last night between the Wilkesbarre Electric Railway company and its striking employes to arbitrate their differences, resulted today in a general resumption of street car traffic in the Wyoming valley. John Price Jackson, state commissioner of labor and industry, chosen as a third member of the arbitration board, will come here Monday to confer with the two other arbitrators. The men returned to work at the old wage scale, 24 cents an hour, pending a settlement. They are asking 28 cents an hour. The strike was in force nine days, and during that time the company did not attempt to operate its cars.

B. H. S. CLASS BASEBALL LEAGUE MAKES FINE START

Seniors Defeat Sophs and Juniors Down Freshies First Week

BY R. W. COURTS, JR.

The past week marked the beginning of the interclass baseball league at Boys' High school. Walter Binns of the senior class has been elected president of the league, with Prof. Simmons as secrtary and treasurer. These same two officers guided the affairs of the association through the baseball season of 1914 with the greatest success. Interclass ball did much last year for the school, as it developed several good players for the varsity team this year. The class ball season opened last Monday when the freshmen were lined up against the juniors. The result was a victory for the juniors by a score of 12 to 9.

Last Thursday, a few dignified seniors, under the leadership of Tom Salter, "the illustrious gentleman from Buckhead," journeyed to Piedmont Park with the express purpose of defeating the soph's baseball team. "Blue" Wallace and his junior started the fray by quickly pulling across four runs. The sophs, however, had located a stalwart country youth by the name of "Agri" Liddell, who in mien and appearance was a second Abraham Lincoln. Liddell was chosen to do the pitching. After the first inning, the juniors were unable to find the ball and the game ended in a 13 to 4 victory for the seniors.

"Woman Suffrage" Subject Of Debate at Hill Street

The Parent-Teacher club met again last Thursday, and had a very interesting meeting. After discussing many things for the benefit of the school, dainty refreshments were served. A prize was given to the class, by Miss Wesley our principal, which had the largest representation or mothers.

The attendance banner was won last week by the fifth grade C. There average was 94.1.

The sixth grade girls, and the fifth grade B boys were very proud of having the best lines for the past month, and were rewarded by being allowed to go to the Literary and Debating society.

We appreciate very much the samples of salt, soda, flour, chocolate, magnesia and fertilizer, which have been sent to us for our school exhibit. They are of great benefit to us in our school work.

The Literary and Debating society met last Friday. The following program was rendered.

Reading—"Just Forty Years Ago," Margia Jones, Marcelline Hunerkopp.

Declamation—"Wolsey's Speech to Cromwell," Edward Robertson, Louis Whiteman.

Reading — "Daffodils," Josephine Smith, Eleanor Chambles.

Declamation—"Mark Antony Over the Dead Body of Caesar," Phillip Schwartz, Clifford Williams.

Reading—"Sunday's Lonesome for a Little Fellow," Thelma Calloway.

Reading—"When Ma Milked Old Black," Ludo Vonstavern.

Reading—"Seven Times Seven." Helen Walker.

Reading—"Annie Belle Lee," Della Weiss.

Reading—"Mrs. McDuffey on Baseball," Vivian Broom.

Reading—"Boys' Rights," Paul Daniel.

Two Songs—Allvaee Caldwell, Floyd Pearson, Mamie Smith, Ruth Shepard.

Reading—"Daffodils," Ruth Barge.

Reading—"Typical American," Olen Dwkle.

Reading—"Old Glory," Olve Bass.

Debate—Resolved: That women should have the right to vote.

Affirmative Leader—Meir Berchenko; first speaker, Charlie Vernoy; second speaker, Wallace Poole; third speaker, Emile Hilem.

Negative Leader—Warren Coleman; first speaker, Joe Gaston; second speaker, Elmer Hull; third speaker, Waymon Lacy.

We were very much pleased to have Mr. Dan Green with us to be the judge.

MAYOR AND JUDGE RULE AT PEEPLES ST. SCHOOL

Third Grade Finds Great Pleasure in Watching Tadpoles Form

BY VIRGINIA BRYAN.

Our school received a pleasant visit from Miss Milledge, the music director of the lower grades, and Miss Harralson, the music director of the higher grades. Good reports were given by these directors. Third B received a star, and are learning to sing a song in French.

From the frog eggs which the third grade B has been keeping developed some very little tadpoles. The children were delighted to see the tadpoles and are eager to see them grow. This grade has elected a mayor, judge and general council. W. G. Archer was elected mayor and Aubrey Baker, judge. When a pupil misbehaves they have a solemn meeting and the judge tries the one who is accused of misbehaving. If he is found guilty he is punished.

The children having the highest records for the quarter are fifth A, Westel Gartner; fifth B, Kenton Higgins and John Smith; fourth C, Ralph Fuller, George Chamberlin, Charles Cason and Fred Reed; second grade C, Louise Harris; first A, Elizabeth Schartle and Walter Head; second A, Ruth Stockton, Lucile Stockton and George Cunningham.

Third enjoyed some educational records on the graphaphone. They hope after hearing the graphaphone they can get their expression in reading fine. A blue ribbon is going to be given to the pupils that are not spoken to for their position in writing during the week.

Those that had the best spelling for the past quarter in the sixth grade were Margaret Bryant, Edwin Everett and Walter Cooper.

Third grade B played third A baseball last week. Third A was victorious, the score being 11 to 4.

Mary Montague received a gold button for athletics; Brantley Boswell, John Smith, Dave Almond and Ruby Louise Williamson silver buttons; and Kenton Higgins, Morris Stocks, Henry Brittain, Roy Elliott, Margaret Thornton and Sara Chester bronze buttons.

PEACOCK TRAINING HARD FOR BASEBALL PENNANT RACE

Baseball season is on! Prep league fans are already handing out the dope, telling just where the pennant will land. They dope it out in such widely different ways, however, that we must wait for the result. Wherever the pennant may go, peacock intends to put up a good fight. Some stars of their aggregation are shown above. First baseman, Frank Armistead; catcher, Frank Boykin; batter, Edgar Dunlap; pitcher, Lyman Murphy.

Prof. Brittain Presents Book to Lakewood Hts.

We are very proud of our first grade. Although some of them have long walks for little people, the following have not been absent this term: Pauline Allen, Edna Stewart, Leonora Hendon, Grace Ross. The primary supervisor complimented their written work at the last primary normal.

Our combination class, first and second B, are enjoying their work in the school garden. They have planned a model school garden on their long table.

In second grade A, Bennie Griffies and Ellena Bartlett have not missed a word in written or oral spelling in the past four months. Guy McGeroy and Ellena Bartlett have not been absent or tardy this year.

Third A has completed some of their sewing, consisting mostly of doll clothes. Gladys Barge and Carrie Edwards, of third B, made 100 in arithmetic.

Those in fourth A who made 100 in arithmetic are: Eula Mae Allen, Bessie Benefield. Those who made 100 in spelling are: Dura Bell Daniell, S. L. Nelms, Eula Mae Allen, Bessie Benefield.

Those in fifth grade who made 100 in geography are: Grace Young, Dora Lee Poole, Annie Laura Skinner, Venie Crusselle, Marvin Aplin, Hubert Hornesby, Grady Benefield, Bob Costley, James Poole, and those who made 100 in arithmetic are: Grace Young, Dora Lee Poole, and James Poole, Bob Costley made 100 in spelling.

The sixth and seventh grade history compositions have been complimented by the superintendent. Luther Hendrix made 100 in history.

The sixth grade is glad to welcome our new pupil, Vera Freeman, from Lee Street school.

Ruth Little, of the seventh grade; Annie Laurie Bray and Katie Vincent, of sixth, wrote the best compositions on "The Care of the Teeth."

Prof. M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of schools, has presented us with an autograph copy of "The Blue Book." We are not only proud of it, but are enjoying the stories very much.

FORREST SEVENTH GRADES SEE COUNCIL IN SESSION

Mr. Green in History Lecture Discusses Siege of Constantinople

BY MARY PARRISH LITTLE.

The school was very much honored this week by a visit from Mr. Green, of the board of education. He gave a lecture on English history to the two seventh grades. This was a most interesting and helpful lecture. Mr. Green's conclusion of the lecture was very fine. He said as in 1485 Constantinople had fallen before the Turks and had caused the learning and civilization of Greece to spread over western Europe, it would now, when Constantinople falls before the allied forces, spread the civilization and learning of Europe over Asia and the Orient. At the end of the lecture the seventh grades gave Mr. Green a rising vote of thanks.

The seventh grade A is very much interested in "Julius Caesar." The seventh grade B is going to give a dramatization of "Julius Caesar" in the entertainment at the close of school.

The seventh grades visited the council meeting Monday and were much excited over the passing of the vacation school motion. The seventh grades highly appreciated the honor that was bestowed upon them by the invitation from the council.

The school was much delighted over the report cards this quarter. Many children got excellent in everything. Those from the sixth grade are as follows:

Anne Miller, Tom Parrish, Lumer Shacklett, Horace Ball, Benjamin Savatlz.

Marjorie McLachlan, Nell Dixon, Louise Smith and Inez Appling.

Those from the third grade were Grace Zachry and Elizabeth McCallie.

Those from the fourth grade were

The third grade has an honor roll of all the children that have not been absent or tardy during the past three quarters. They are Perry Clower, Annie Olson, William Perkins, Martha Schell, Helen Schroeder and Grace Zachry.

The seventh grade B also renders a long list of names of children who have had perfect attendance. They are Hugh Carter, Hazel Johnston, Emile Schurr, Clifton Wikle, Julia Chapman, Josephine Collins, Sara Evans, Jessie de Jarnette, Helen Line, Ruth Martin, Virginia Sawyer, Gladys Swords.

GEOGRAPHY TAUGHT WITH SCRAPBOOKS AT BAT. HILL

First Grade Girls Make Window Curtains for Their Little Houses

BY LOUISE SILAS.

The banner for attendance for last week was won by the fifth grade.

The sixth grade children have made geography scrapbooks of the United States and by pictures they have shown the resources, the products, the means of transportation and the chief industries of each section.

The fifth grade has made scrapbooks, too. In these they are putting pictures of the chief products of each section.

The third grade also has made nature books and they are showing pictures of birds, animals, flowers and vegetables.

The children in the seventh grade that were on the honor roll were Sara Goner and Lucile Gibson and in honorable mention Nancy Tripp.

The first grade children are very much interested in furnishing a little cottage that was given them. The girls are very busy making the curtains for the doors and windows.

Miss Lisle, the second grade teacher, is sick. We hope she will be with us again soon.

BOYS HI TAKES FIRST GAME OF SEASON FROM G. M. A.

Friddell Pitches Fine Ball Up to Ninth Inning--Scott Lands Home Run

BY CHARLES H. GIBEARDEAU.

The Boys' High school baseball team traveled our to College Park and encountered the G. M. A. cadets in a game which resulted in a 11 to 6 victory for Boys' High school.

From the very start the purple and white team showed better form and seemed sure of winning.

Friddell and Weaver were the battery for High school. Friddell showed splendid form and served a brand of curves that the cadet batiment were unable to penetrate until the ninth round when they secured five hits and six runs. Up to this time Friddell had kept them satisfied with only one hit.

In the seventh round Scott, he "diminutive" left fielder for B. H. S. flayed the pill way out into left center and at the same time made a complete circuit of the bags.

White pitched a good game for G. M. A., but the position treated him rather harshly at times. This was partly due to rather poor support of his infield and partly to his wildness.

Several errors by the G. M. A. infield at critical points, was responsible for the large score. G. M. A's outfield showed best for them making some pretty stops.

Seventh Grade Wins Medal For Elocution at Grant Park

We have had the pleasure of having visits from Mr. Slaton, Mr. Landrum, Miss Haralson, Miss Milledge and Mrs. Osgood. Each gave in a fine report of every grade. Each primary grade received excellent from Miss Milledge for work in music.

The fifth grade won the banner in attendance for this week. The leaders in the grade for this quarter are Dorothy Ivy and William Robinson.

Ruby Tippen and Wilmer Heery led fourth grade B for this quarter.

Our sixth grade girls are still in the ring for circle dodgeball, and if they are successful in winning another game, they will have the honor of playing on field day.

The girls of seventh A who have won the elocution medal for this month are Marie Toy, Lillie Mae McDonald and Mamie Gene Cole.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association was held Friday, April 2. Miss Smith and Mrs. Kirkpatrick of the Third Ward Civic league, gave interesting talks about the plans of the league for the spring and summer.

All of our grades are busy over the flower beds in the yard. We hope to have fine flowers in the fall.

DONALD FRASER BOASTS TWO STRONG PITCHERS

Philanthropic Society Wins in Prize Debate on United States Navy

By John A. Emmitt.

The Philanthropic Literary society won the decision of the judges in a very spirited debate in the McDonough street auditorium on last Saturday night.

The subject of discussion was Resolved, that the United States navy should be enlarged. The winners were represented by Messrs. Candler and Everett and their opponents were messrs. Moore and Shields.

The judges made especial mention of the speech of Mr. Shields.

The baseball team opened the league season with Marist on Rainspect field Friday afternoon, at this time the score of the game could not be obtained. We can say this much however that Donald Fraser will enter the game fully determined to give the visitors a hot contest for the victory.

From the hope the contest will probably be a pitchers' battle. Brock, of Marist, is a good pitcher and proved defensive material in the Gold and Black game three games last season. On the other hand both Pollock and Dunnagan are in fair shape and may prove equally as fatal to the Marist sluggers, It has not yet been announced as to who will work for Donald Fraser, but either pitcher will give the visitors a good game.

Coach Griffin has had the team down to real work during the past week. He has been aided by "Buddie" Williamson, a Georgia Riverside star and a member of the last year's La Grange team. Donald Fraser will meet G. M. A. in the second contest on Tuesday on the same field. small admission will be charged in both games.

Girls Have Basketball Team All Their Own at Home Park

The seventh grades had a spelling match last Friday, and, on the work assigned for the match, the following children remained standing: Mary Glass, Hilda Anderson, Ethel Blazer, Hazel Vanderpool, Bessie Wallace, Thelma Carson, Bertha Craven, Ola Bell Hollums Ollie Gentle, Eric Foreman and Craig Mathews. Ethel Blazer could not be spelled down and she received a picture.

Today the sixth grade held a spelling match and Laura Mullins received the pitcure promised to the one who spelled the longest.

The girls of the second grade A have organized a baseball team. Only well-behaved children are allowed to play and they expect to have many interesting games.

Twenty-two pupils of the fourth grade have planted gardens at their homes.

The bird box on the school ground has been taken possession of by a pair of blue birdsh.

Mr. J. M. Hollowell has presented our library with five volumes of "The New Students' Reference Work." We appreciate this gift and wish to thank Mr. Hollowell for his interest in the school and for his kindness to us.

Miss Milledge and Dr. Toepel were our visitors this week. We enjoyed their visits, and they reported that they were pleased with our work.

MARY LEE EGGLER.

DAVIDSON AND EMORY WILL DEBATE AT AGNES SCOTT

Monroe Doctrine Is Subject of Discussion--Luncheon at Ansley Hotel

Davidson and Emory colleges will meet at the auditorium of Agnes Scott college Monday night for what promises to be a most interesting debate. Emory has not lost a series of debates in seven years and Davidson has lost only one in that time. The subject for debate is, "Resolved, That an alliance of all American countries should take the place of the Monroe Doctrine." The discussion of such a live topic will bring out good argument and provoke a hot contest between the two institutions, Davidson having the affirmative side of the question, will be represented by F. W. Price, Manking, China and H. P. Smith, Easley, S. C., with J. G. Patton, of Decatur as alternate. The honors of Emory will be upheld by Fred W. Elsbree, McRae, Ga., and Lewis King, Madison, Ga., with Bruce Cline, of Wallesa, Ga., as alternate. Mr. J. K. Orr, of Atlanta will preside.

Following the debate, the Agnes Scott students will give an informal reception. No admission fee will be charged, and the public is cordially invited.

The Davidson alumni association will give a luncheon at the Ansley hotel Monday in honor of the debate team.

THREE MAYORS REVIEW G. M. A. CADET CORPS

Every Man in Companies Is Trained and Ready for Government Inspection

BY W. DELANEY WAY.

The review for the fall dress parades is becoming more interesting all the time. Last week Colonel Holland and a number of the staff of the Fifth regiment received the review and this past Thursday was received by the mayors of College Park, East Point and Hapeville. In compliance with one of the latest issues form the war department persons of civil offices and national guard officers are invited for the occasions.

By the time the government inspector arrives which will be about the 20th of this month every man in the battalion will have had his try at commanding the entire battalion. The officers are taking their turn and privates are taken from ranks, unawares, for this purpose. This insures every person as to his ability should he be called upon by the inspector.

The official records of the companies' time in wall scaling was taken this week and the work is showing up equally as well as last year which made the record of 16 seconds. The artillery squads are also doing some very fast and efficient work along with the signaling squad.

The baseball season opened on our diamond with Boys' High yesterday. The game promised to be a very exciting one for both parties concerned, for the score was not obtainable at the present writing. We play ten games in the series and have already staked our wager on our full share of them.

The work of the track team is showing good form in every branch and feels ready to duplicate their action of last year by taking another cup or two.

Full dress parades on Thursdays at 3:30 p. m.

Chicken and Rabbit Pay Visit to Boulevard School

All the grades are busy planting gardens this month. Each grade has a garden and they are all at work in them.

The seventh A girls are practicing for Field day, having already won the other games. In the last game, which was played against Edgewood, the score was 21 to 12.

The fourth grade children are also practicing for Field day. They have won more games than any other fourth grade in the city.

The children in the third grade A studied about Easter last week and some things were brought that interested them very much. One of the pupils brought a rabbit to school and another a chicken. They let the chicken and rabbit walk around the room while they studied about them. When school was out they let the chicken and rabbit go home.

MR. ASHLY LECTURES ON ELECTRICITY AT N. AVE.

Eighth Grade Takes Much Interest in Cultivation of Lot

BY FRANCES HARWELL.

The eighth grade of our school is very much interested in the cultivation of a lot. Now that spring is here we will have more opportunity to carry out our plans and by the end of the term we hope to have one of the most attractive lots in the city.

The sixth grade enjoyed a talk on "Electricity" from Mr. Ashley, the councilman from our ward.

In playing the games against the other schools the fourth grade boys have won so far and will play the final game this week. They hope very much to win.

Faith Primary Grades Have Leading Record in Spelling

The children are working hard to keep good lessons. It is only nine weeks until school is out and we are going to work harder than ever to be promoted.

Miss Milledge visited our school last week and gave all primary grades excellent. We were very proud of the report she gave our second grade. She said they sang better than any other second grade in the city. This class has never failed to get excellent in music since they entered school in the first grade.

The second and third grades had a spelling match last week. All the words that the second grade had had were given out. Carl Ferguson, of the second grade, was the only one to remain standing.

The fourth grade had a spelling match last week also and twenty-four remained standing.

Mr. Landrum visited us this week and seemed very much pleased with the work he saw.

The honor roll of our school is as follows:

First grade, morning session: Cora Bella Pruette, Oliver Pruette, Lora Porter, Sarah Johnson and Mary Hutchison.

Afternoon session: Eva Langley, Alene Davenport, Paul David, Grace Hardaman, R. D. Shaw, Grace Thornton, Villery Miller, Mildred Davis, Cynthia Denman, Irvine Hardin, Lois Hallingsworth and Rubie Cook.

Second grade: Susie Richardson, Carl Ferguson, Irene Smith, Algenia Moore, Irene Moore, Clara Hutchison, Jewell Thornton.

Third grade: Nannie Lou Spier, Leola Pruette, Cora Pitts.

Fourth grade: Madelyn Payne, Lucile Davenport, Willie Hill, Angie Chesser, Otto Ivy, Gertrude Almond, Bertie Baxter, Thelma Hardin, Lucy Pendley.

Fifth grade: Ossie Hearn, Mary Martin, Theron Wells, Lucile Rabern, Tillie Alterman, Jimmie Cook.

Sixth grade: Ruby Langley, Lela Passmore, Pearl Passmore, Zelma Sherrill, Millard Clay, Susie Silvey.

RUBY LANGLEY.

Spring Makes Edgewood Pupils Plant Flowers

Hurrah! Spring is here at last. After all the cold weather most people think of spring, but we will think it is only beginning to think about planting flowers on our school yard.

The first grade is ahead of most of us. They have some seeds germinating and they are very much interested in watching them grow.

To make the geography work more interesting the teacher of the fourth A is requesting the children to make relief maps at home and bring them to school. The good ones are hung up in the front of the room.

We are very interested in athletics. The fifth A played Calhoun on April 1 and won.

The seventh A girls played a game with North Avenue school about two weeks ago and won. The boys also played and won. Score, four to five.

We will save the worst news for the last. The girls and boys of first A played games on April 1 and as bad luck would have it, we lost. The girls played Boulevard and the boys played Calhoun. It was the next to the last game we would have had to play, too. If we had only beaten these we would have won a pennant. But no such good luck this time, but we expect to win everything else that comes our way.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, APR. 11

1 Samuel 16:4-13.
Golden Text: Man looketh on the outward appearance, but Jehovah looketh on the heart.—1 Sam. 16:7.)

BY DR. MARION DU M. MULL.

AFTER Saul was rejected by God because of his disobedience, Samuel mourned for him for some time. He loved Saul. He had been attracted by his personality; by his splendid physical appearance; and I think he felt some responsibility for him, since he had anointed him to be the king of Israel.

However, God had indicated to him his displeasure that he should mourn over him whom He had rejected, and commanded him to anoint one of the sons of Jesse of Bethlehem, whom He had chosen.

GOD'S GUIDANCE.

Samuel was afraid to do this at first, because to anoint another one king would be treason, but God indicated to him how he might do it by going up to offer a sacrifice and thus no suspicion would be aroused.

When he arrived, the elders of the city were alarmed. They must have had guilty consciences; but Samuel allayed their fears and invited them up to the sacrifice with him. Then he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and had them to pass before him.

Eliab, the oldest son, attracted Samuel's attention by those splendid qualities which had been so marked in Saul; but God indicated to him that there was another and better way to judge a man than by his outward appearance. The real man was on the inside, and not always known by his looks; and so when the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sons of Jesse had passed before him, God indicated to him in each instance that this one was not the one whom He had chosen.

Then Samuel asked Jesse if he had any other children, to which he replied he did have another boy, a young fellow, who was out in the fields looking after the sheep. He had hardly thought it worth while to bring him in. However, Samuel directed that he be brought before him, for he would not sit down to the sacrificial meal until the last one had been brought before him.

I think I can see the young fellow now as he came bounding in from the field—his ruddy cheeks and curly auburn hair, his eyes and his whole being aglow, flushed with excitement, and abashed by the presence of so many, and particularly the presence of the old prophet who had talked to such a pronounced part in the affairs of Israel for so many years.

As soon as he came in Samuel was told by God that this was the one whom He had chosen, and pouring the oil of joy of his head he anointed him as the king of Israel, the chosen of God. I think I can almost see the seven older brothers who had been set aside. They must not consequently were jealous, but the younger ones were proud of rejoiced with their father that the had tractive young brother, had been chosen for so important an office. I don't know how fully they realized the import of it, probably not fully as yet, and they did not realize it he had been called by God to some great service and anointed by His prophet for the glory of the work as the oil we upon his head, the Spirit of God came upon David and he grew in grace from that time on.

How did God choose Samuel in the choice? I do not know, but I do know that He guided him. God guided him in the choice of Saul as Samuel did. Sometimes it is by a deep unexplainable feeling in our own hearts. Sometimes it is by circumstances, sometimes it is a direct command from His word as it grips us, and we hear Him speaking to us through the printed page. However the manner the blessed truth is that He does guide us that we may know His will if we keep close to Him, that God does not reveal His will to the man or woman who is separated from Him by sin. If we will put sin away from our lives, our hearts will be more acute so that we may detect the whispers of God as He speaks His will to us. How great to know that you are walking in the way of His will, and you may know. You may know the next step to take if you will live the one step now which He has for you; for He makes His revelation to us constantly, not all at once.

GOD'S CHOICE.

God's choice as decidedly different from the people and even from Samuel's. The people had selected Saul, but when he showed himself unworthy God set him aside. It is very easy to be misled and judge only by the outward appearance. This was the way the people judged; this was the way Samuel judged but it is not God's way. He looks upon the heart and chooses accordingly.

What was in David's heart that God saw which led Him to choose him for the great service? Why, one thing was that God knew the secret things of his life; for the Lord (Deut. 34:29). He saw his faith, for had he not fought with lion and the bear when they had attacked his beloved sheep, depending upon God for strength? He saw there the germ of that trust and dependence upon Him which flowered out so beautifully in his subsequent life of this great king of Israel. There were the secret things which God saw. Another thing was that he chose him for his industry, while the other boys were lounging around the house, David was out in the field dustily keeping the sheep. The reward for work is more work. God bless us by enabling us to do more. He never calls an idle man into His service if he has some great thing. He is testing out in the smaller things now, so that He may know whether we will be faithful in the larger things hereafter.

He chose it because of his very weakness, for it is not God chooses the weak things of the world to confound the mighty, and the things that are not to set at naught the things that are (1 Cor. 1:27). Andrew and John and Peter, and Jhes, and Amos, and many others whom we might mention were chosen by God to do great things for Him, but we are none of these men whom we would have chosen to do these things that if the choice had been left to us. God's ways are not our ways, but they are far better.

God has work for you to do. By His Spirit He is pleading with you, urging you to listen to the call to service which He makes. Do not hesitate because you feel that you are one of the weak ones, for when the Spirit of God comes upon you, you shall be mighty and do exploits in His name.

War or no war, baseball is not going to wait.

When 1,300,000 shares a day change hands in the stock market, it is a time for pessimists to become uneasy.

Swords and Plowshares.

An industrious mathematician calculates that if the Krupp gun works of Germany were turned into a factory for making farm implements, they could produce in one day enough plowshares to supply the entire United States for fifty years; and that if the capital and labor which are required to operate this giant cannon plant for a week were applied to the manufacture of grain binders, they could fill the needs of every wheat grower in America for a quarter of a century to come.

It would hardly pay the Krupp gun works, as a business proposition, to go into the manufacture of plowshares and grain binders; for, within a month or so they would have turned out more than the world could consume in several generations, and thus through sheer efficiency and power would have worked themselves out of a job. But suppose the money and toil and genius which are devoted to these industries of destruction were applied to the arts of peace; what marvels would be wrought! For the present, this is to suppose the impossible; but not so for the future. Militarism has kept billions of wealth from productive uses, and has clutched the hard earnings of millions of people. When the war is over, the rank and file of those who have borne these burdens will make themselves heard and felt.

Jess Willard should learn that it is one thing to become a champion and still another to continue one.

Patrons should remember that grand opera, like Christmas, comes but once a year. Shop early for those seats.

The Real Need.

Commenting on the reduced imports of dyestuffs and the consequent embarrassment to American industries which depend on foreign sources for these materials, Thomas Edison says: "Since the outbreak of the war I have been making carbolic acid, aniline oil and benzol. The last sold at 25 cents a gallon before the war. Today manufacturers are paying 60 to 75 cents. Aniline oil was selling at 11 to 12 cents a pound before the war. Now it is up to 70 cents. I am not making very much money in this line, but I thought I would at least make the start, and I hope some of these timid Americans who lack backbone to father a movement worth while will now come along and follow suit."

That is the truly American note, and very refreshing it is in the midst of plaints and whines for Government patronage. A thirty per cent tariff duty, maintained for more than twenty-five years, failed to stimulate and upbuild dye-producing industries in the United States. The tax on imports did not promote domestic manufactures. The war, by virtually removing all foreign competition, has done what no tariff, however high, could ever do. The theory of the "protectionists" has found full sway, and in doing so has revealed its complete fallacy.

Chemists declare that most if not all of the materials needed for the manufacture of dyes are available in this country and that the few which must be imported are in lands outside the war area. It is not raw material that is lacking; it is not scientific guidance; it is enterprise and initiative. And they are qualities which no amount of Government aid can supply.

The Government, to be sure, should do what it can to relieve immediate needs, if those needs are so serious as to threaten a suspension of textile mills which depend on German dyestuffs. But the ultimate remedy lies with American capital, quickened with a new sense of its opportunities and obligations.

Where there are so many rumors there must be some peace.

Paris is about to prohibit the tango. England is thinking of cutting out booze, and Turkey may quit cigarettes.

Omens From the Stock Exchange.

A seat on the New York Stock exchange was sold the other day for $49,500. The week before, one was sold for $44,500; and five months ago, for $34,000.

The World aptly comments that "if the Stock Exchange is a barometer of prosperity, as it claims to be, it ought to be impressed greatly by its own evidence of the steady improvement in business conditions." It is noteworthy, moreover, that the New York Stock Exchange has removed all the restrictions which it imposed last winter as safeguards to trading in American securities. It is the first of the world's great bourses to resume operations, as it was the last of them to suspend. There could be no more striking evidence of America's recovery from the shock of the European war.

Bases of Optimism.

Recent reports to the Treasury Department from national bank examiners throughout the Union furnish a particularly sound basis for business optimism. In every section and almost every State, conditions are represented as distinctly better than they have been since the war began and as promising more rapid improvement thenceforward. The agricultural outlook is filled with assurance. Industry is reviving, and those plants which have foreign orders are unusually active. Oversea trade is breaking all records, and domestic commerce is gradually regaining its wonted vigor. True, there are spots of lingering depression here and there, but the country as a whole is astir with new life and cheer.

Especially marked is the improvement in the South. Seven months ago the cotton-growing States faced a crisis that tried their souls. The staple of their prosperity was without a market. Farmers and merchants alike were distressed. But the South kept its heart and its head. Today, under the stimulus of advanced prices and increased exports of cotton, business is swiftly recovering. Most important of all, Southern farming is being re-established on a broader and securer basis. The perils of the all-cotton system of planting have been learned through bitter experience. There is reason to hope that this year the Southern States will produce more foodstuffs than ever before, so that they will be independent whatever the fortunes of the cotton market may be.

Prosperity is getting to be such an old story that the mere announcement of it doesn't startle.

Fifty per cent of the peach crop is killed, but the remaining half seems to be safe even from a rumor of death.

A Striking Instance.

"Last year Georgia, without half trying, produced over three million gallons of cane syrup. Much of it was used privately, but more of it was shipped to Alabama and other states to be canned. The average price of this syrup is thirty cents a gallon. That is, it retails for more, but the farmer can get that much for it. Therefore, the syrup production in Georgia last year was worth a million dollars. Notwithstanding, it is estimated that Georgia spent fully several million dollars on syrup shipped here from other states. The best syrup in the world, the purest and sweetest, is raised right here in Georgia. But not enough of it is produced. According to Commissioner of Agriculture Price, at least ten million gallons can be produced in this state merely as a side line. Each acre of cane will yield about 25 gallons, which will net the farmer a neat profit. This being true, there is no reason why any Georgian should ever use syrup from other states on his table. He should be able to buy Georgia syrup at any time and all the time and in any quantity."

This seasonable comment from the Macon News is applicable to scores of other food commodities which Georgia imports from distant regions and which it could produce within its borders. We buy millions of dollars' worth of canned goods. Yet, Georgia soil is ideally suited, in many counties, to truck growing, and Georgia capital could easily establish canning plants to utilize surplus crops. We spend millions of dollars for butter and eggs and poultry, purchasing them at high prices in faraway markets, when our own farms are capable of supplying the State's needs. So with meat and grain and sundry other staples. Georgia buys the very things it ought to sell; it is a debtor where it ought to be a creditor, a consumer where it ought to be a producer.

A change will not be possible, however, until we abandon the one-crop system. We can never develop the wonderful range and variety of our resources until we are free from the despotism of cotton. The year 1915 should mark an epoch of thoughtful and vigorous beginnings in the farm affairs of this Commonwealth. It should mark a courageous breaking-away from the tyranny of cotton and a movement toward productive freedom.

Ignorance occasionally borrows a coat and poses as wisdom.

Peace rumors, however, don't seem to extend as far as Mexico.

Religion is a good thing that never cuts a wide swath in a horse trade.

Editorial Echoes

Our most constant and vital relation to the world without is a chemical one. We can go without food for some days, but we can exist without breathing only a few moments. Through these spongy lungs of ours we lay hold upon the outward world in the most intimate and constant way. Through them we are rooted to the air. The air is a mechanical mixture of two very unlike gases—nitrogen and oxygen; one very inert, the other very active. Nitrogen is like a coldblooded, lethargic person—it combines with other substances very reluctantly and with but little energy. Oxygen is just its opposite in this respect: it gives itself freely; it is "Hail, fellow; well met!" with most substances, and it enters into co-partnership with them on such a large scale that it forms nearly one-half of the material of the earth's crust. This invisible gas, this breath of air, through the magic of chemical combination, forms nearly half the substance of the solid rocks. Deprive it of its affinity for carbon, or substitute nitrogen or hydrogen in its place, and the air would quickly suffocate us. That changing of the dark, venous blood in our lungs into the bright, red, arterial blood would instantly cease. Fancy the sensation of inhaling an odorless, non-poisonous atmosphere that would make one gasp for breath! We should be quickly poisoned by the waste of our own bodies. All things that live must have oxygen, and all things that burn must have oxygen. Oxygen does not burn, but it supports combustion.—John Burroughs in Harper's Magazine for April.

Benzonia's Vengeful Minks

BENZONIA, Mich., April 8.—Bert Peters has just solved the mystery of his automobile tires. Since last September in spite of the fact that he has had his small car out of the garage only a few times, because of the depth of snow and condition of roads, he has had to buy nine new tires.

The first exploded early one morning after he had been driving the car at night and he supposed he had cut it on a bottle and that it blew out during the night.

When it happened the second time he grew suspicious and when he found the third tire mutilated he came to the conclusion some enemy was chopping his tires with a hatchet.

He double padlocked the garage, kept watch many nights and was driven to distraction. The other morning he was asleep in his room when another sharp explosion awakened him. Seizing his gun he sprang to the garage just in time to find a mink crawling dazedly across the floor.

The blow-out evidently had caught the mink and stunned it. Bert killed it. Now he recalls that just before the tire blew out last September he ran over a mink and killed it. He thinks that the mink's mate has been biting holes in his tires to revenge the killing of its life partner.

Bill Sykes and Don Jose.

Take, for instance, two noted criminals, Bill Sikes, and Don Jonas. About these men we do know all—their very souls have been laid bare for us by the genius of the authors: the brutal burglar in Dickens' "Oliver Twist" and the young soldier of Prosper Merimee's pathetic tale, "Carmen," best known through Bizet's wonderful music.

The one, a hardened ruffian, the product of the streets, has murdered his mistress in cold blood because he learns that she has revealed some of the wickedness of him and his gang. The other, a rather weak young fellow of good impulses and good training, who has been entrapped and his career ruined by a heartless woman, has killed her in a moment of mad passion.

What possible affinity is there between these two cases? It is true that they have both committed murder of the first degree, but what then? If you should set Bill Sikes free he would at once return to his old life of theft and murder; he would continue a criminal, for he knows no better. If you should liberate Jose he would go quietly back to his mother's cottage, his mad passion for Carmen all burned out, and soon he would be married to his old flame, the good girl Micaela, and settle down to a useful, law-abiding farmer's life.

To place two such men in one and the same category—to deem them guilty of the same crime—is to shut your eyes to all the most essential facts of human nature; and to mete out to them the same punishment is to be ridiculous as well as inhuman.

Travelette.

BY NIKSAH.

The islands of Lake Erie that belong to the United States are among the most beautiful and the richest parts of the country. Rock-bound and fringed with forests, many of them look like bits of the primitive wilderness when seen at a little distance; but their interiors are highly cultivated, especially in vineyards and peach orchards.

Kelly's Island is the largest of them, having an area of 2,800 acres, and a shoreline eighteen miles long. There are about 1,000 inhabitants all the year around, but in summer the population is greatly augmented by the visitors; for these breeze-swept islands are delightful weather resorts.

This island is particularly rich in legend and history. Before white men found the continent, it was a favorite resort of the Indians, as is shown by the mounds and bits of pottery found there, and by a wonderful picture-narrative left by the Indians themselves. It is carved upon a great jutting rock near the shore of the lake, and shows figures fighting, holding councils, and smoking pipes of peace. Many scientists have traveled to the island to study this inscription, which is the most perfect of its kind in America, and they assert that it is a complete record of the settlement of the island by the Eries, of the coming of the Wyandottes, and of the final conquest by the Iroquois nation, who held the island when the white men came.

A century ago Kelly's island was an almost unbroken forest of red cedar, one of the most valuable woods that grow in this country, but its resources were slow to be exploited. The Indians killed the first settlers, and others died of exposure. Then came a French adventurer named Ben Napier, who took possession of the island, announced himself as sovereign, and seems to have kept everyone else away by force of arms for a number of years. He introduced hogs, which ran wild upon the island, and when this careless farmer wanted pork, he climbed a tree, waited for his live stock to pass within range, and killed a pig from ambush.

This strange hermit managed to hold the island against all comers until 1833, when it was purchased by two brothers named Kelly, who ejected him by process of law. The Kellys built wharves and warehouses, sold land in small parcels to settlers, and soon made of the island a thriving community. Their descendants are still among the landholders of the island.

Searchlight

The practical application of chemistry in the administration of a great hostelry is the newest wrinkle in hotel management. A large hotel in a western city has lately added a fully equipped chemical laboratory and engaged a graduate chemist and two assistants.

These chemists will apply scientific tests to all the food products which come into the hotel. It is claimed that food purchased in packing large quantities, are frequently imposed upon by dealers who fill the orders in part with inferior goods. The chemists will promptly detect all such practices.

The hotel chemist makes a special study of soaps and cleansing powders. These apparently insignificant items cost thousands of dollars annually in a large hotel. The individual cakes of soap supplied to all guests are beginning to receive consideration, since a Colorado woman has threatened suit for a skin irritation, said by her doctor to be due to some ingredient in the soap furnished her at a hotel. The hotel chemist will have a formula for the soap in cakes and also for the liquid soap used in the public washrooms. He will analyze specimens from each order filled in order to be sure that it complies with the proper standard.

Quips and Quiddities

Telephone girls are forbidden to "answer back," no matter how abusive a subscriber may be. Sometimes they get around these hard conditions in a very clever way. For instance, the subscriber after vainly trying for ten minutes to get the number he had asked for, shouted: "What the deuce is the matter with you telephone girls, anyhow—are you all crazy?" The answer came with exasperating sweetness: "I don't know, Ask 'information.'"

In a college for women, where the faculty consists chiefly of the gentler sex, a meeting of the academic council was in progress. Here and there a lone man sat surrounded by learned ladies. An amendment had just been proposed.

"Where is the person who offers this amendment?" inquired the president. "Who is she?"

Whereupon Mr. Skeets, the popular young professor of a favorite subject, rose and replied, deprecatingly, "I am she."

* * *

"I hope, Jennie, that you have given the matter serious consideration," said a lady to a servant girl who had "given notice" because she was to be married that day two weeks.

"Oh, I have ma'am," was the earnest reply. "I've been to two fortune tellers and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sign book and dreamed on a lock of his hair, and been to one of these asterologers, and to a meejum, and they all say go ahead, m'am. I ain't one to marry recklesslike, ma'am."

WAR AND WRITING

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

WHAT effect is the war going to have upon the contents of the magazines you read? How is it going to influence the character of the books that will be written in the next few years? Most important of all, how is the great world conflict going to affect the thoughts and feelings of men, as they are both reflected and influenced by books and periodicals?

* * *

This is a question of special interest to modern Americans, because most of them choose their reading matter only to a limited extent. You, unless you are very different from most other people, read certain magazines that your associates read, and certain popular authors that you must know about in order to keep up your end of a conversation. It never occurs to the average American to explore very widely in the field of general literature for information or entertainment. He takes what is offered him. Thus, recently magazines and newspapers have deluged us with information about the war until we are tired of reading about aeroplanes and submarines and meaning shells and lockjaw and Belgian relief, and a hundred other familiar details; but still we keep on reading war dispatches and war articles because there is little else to read.

* * *

This deluge of war journalism, however, is only temporary. It is evident that the great upheaval of world forces must have some lasting and permanent effect upon the world's mind, as expressed in its literature. What this effect will be has already been the subject of much speculation among critics and literary men, generally. William Dean Howells, perhaps the foremost American literary man today, has precipitated a storm of discussion by vehemently expressing the opinion that the war will leave the world's mind almost blank. He declares that peace and prosperity are necessary for any of the arts to attain their fullest expression.

* * *

It may be cited in support of these arguments that American literature was dormant for many years after the Civil war, and, in the opinion of Mr. Howells, none of the books which were written about it at a later period are of much importance. The Napoleonic war likewise seemed to stimulate writers very little, and the stories about it were all written a good many years after the conflict ended. The defeat of the Spanish Armada by England, on the other hand, was the beginning of the most brilliant era in British literary annals. It must be said, however, that the great men of the Elizabethian period had already made their beginnings at this time, and that the epoch of national greatness following the defeat of the Armada was what furnished their inspiration, rather than the war itself.

* * *

A great American newspaper publisher has expressed the opinion that the war is going to have a sobering effect upon the people of the whole world, that the growing frivolity of life in the United States will be checked, and that the writings of the future will reflect this change. He predicts that the United States will return to the serious reading and thinking which occupied cultured Americans two or three generations ago.

* * *

Another well-known publisher thinks that one effect of the war, for which we ought to be thankful, will be to modify the excessively feminine atmosphere which has characterized fiction for some time. He points out that most modern novelists, from George Meredith and Thomas Hardy down to the gaudiest best seller, are largely concerned with the thoughts and feelings of women in love. Go back to Dumas and Scott and Erckmann-Chatrian, and you will find that most of their writings are taken up with the red-blooded adventures of men and boys. Their heroines, it is true, are the veriest dolls. The fainting and weeping heroine has been almost from the novel, but the smart and aggressive young lady who has come to take her place has monopolized the whole field and almost elbowed more man out of the pages of fiction. That the war will produce a more manly and adventurous type of novel is the belief of this publisher.

* * *

Meantime, the war seems to have had extremely little effect upon contemporary authors. All of them are writing about the war, but each one so much in his own individual way that he sheds more light upon his own character than upon the subject in hand. Thus, Bernard Shaw upon the war tells us a great deal about Bernard Shaw, but almost nothing about war; and an English literary magazine reports that the recondite, psychological novelist, Henry James, has been writing about the war, too, but that all of his stuff has been held up because the censors thought it was in code.

* * *

Most writers regard the war as splendid material, and many of them are at the front. Mary Roberts Rinehart is serving as a Red Cross nurse, and Edith Wharton has opened a shop in Paris for the help of girls who have been thrown out of employment. She has given them work at embroidery and other fancy sewing, and is disposing of the product among her friends. W. B. Maxwell, a young English novelist just beginning to win recognition, has gone to war as a first lieutenant. Anatole France, who occupies somewhat the same position in French literature that W. D. Howells does in this country, has offered his services to the government, although he is seventy years old. This is the note he sent to the minister of war:

"Many worthy people consider my style no good in war time. As they are perhaps right, I have stopped writing and am thus without a job. I am no longer very young, but my health is good. Turn me into a soldier."

* * *

In accordance with his desires, this venerable genius has been made a full private, but he will be carefully prevented from risking his life in action.

* * *

Another famous writer, who is on his way to the front, is Alfred Noyes, the English poet who recently visited this country. He is now drilling as a member of a British regiment and has written to his publisher that he has nothing ready for the press because he does not find the barracks congenial to literary work.

* * *

The immediate effect of the war on the production of books has been to greatly reduce it. This is strikingly shown by the fact that only 3,950 yards of book cloth were imported into this country last November, as against 35,542 yards in November of 1913.

* * *

In many other ways the war will be a check on the mechanical production of books. The Germans are reported to be melting their music plates to make bullets, and doubtless the book plates will be the next to go, and the Germans will literally shoot their enemies with the works of their great men. German authors are also reported to have formed a national association to prevent the translation into German of any works by authors belonging to the nations with which they are at war.

* * *

Another interesting angle of the effect of war on literature is the reading of the men in the trenches. A German newspaper has made an investigation and found that the German soldiers devote most of their time to army manuals and text books on foreign languages. The three books for general reading which stand first in favor are the New Testament, Goethe's "Faust," and Nietzsesche's "Thus Spake Zarathustra." The New Testament has been the favorite reading of Christian soldiers for centuries, but the other two books are certainly a strange selection, being a couple of the most "high-brow" works in any language. Reading Nietzsesche and Goethe would be about absolute zero as an indoor sport to the average American soldier.

* * *

An English lieutenant who is something of a literary man, is said to entertain his men regularly with readings from Scott and Dickens. At Christmas time, Dickens' "Christmas Carol" had to be read several times to the troopers before they were satisfied. Scott's poem, "Marmion," is another favorite of the English soldiers in the trenches. A French soldier was found reading Dumas, while the French philosopher, Bergsen, is also said to be read to a considerable extent in the French trenches.

* * *

One notable effect of the war upon the men in the trenches is that they are themselves often stimulated to literary production. Thus a certain wealthy Englishman, who had gained a good deal of publicity through his efforts to make the soldiers more comfortable at the front, has received five poems from soldiers, with the request that they be published and the money sent to the front. The same gentleman received an offer of matrimony from a nurse at the front, to which, according to an English magazine, he replied in three words, "Madam, reply censored."

* * *

It appears from what scant evidence is available that the belligerent nations have very different ideas as to how literary men should be treated. Thus, the Germans are reported to have taken prisoner an English novelist by the name of Gribble. An English journal makes the pertinent comment that it does not see why Germany wanted Mr. Gribble, as she has enough scribes of her own already. Very different was the treatment of a German professor in a Japanese university, who wanted to leave Japan in order to join the German army. Japanese, it seems, does not fall even in time of war, for the German professor was granted a year's leave of absence on full pay to go and fight against Japan.

THE WONDER OF LIFE

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

THERE be many strange things in heaven and earth, and upon these the wonder of the mind feeds. We love marvelous tales.

But more outlandish than anything told by Baron Munchausen, Grimm, or Conan Doyle are the amazing FACTS of the world we live in.

James Chapin, returning from six years of collecting in the Congo country for the Natural History museum, tells of a curious great-hornbill that plasters his mate up in mud in a hollow tree until she has hatched her eggs, feeding her for six weeks through a small hole in her prison wall; of bat-eating hawks; of weaver-birds, about the size of the sparrow, that build hanging nests, which they enter from the bottom; and of pygmy tribes of men who eat dried ants and caterpillars.

A steamer recently entered New York harbor from South America bringing a veritible Noah's-Ark company of curious lives. Ferdinand Bartles, the collector, tells of the whiffle-buff, a weasel that kills its prey on the wing by darting up under it and spearing it with its long, needle-like, spiked tail; of pocket-monkeys exceeding small; and of numerous reptiles for which scientists as yet have no name.

And, by the way, if you want to get about the most fascinating book ever, to read to your children or to feed your own amazement, procure "The Wonder of Life" (Henry Holt & Co., N. Y.), by Prof. Thompson, of the University of Aberdeen. You will find in it a world of facts more curious than the fantasy of man can conceive.

You may read here of a mosquito milking an ant of a fish swallowing a fish larger than itself; of the horned toad spitting a jet of blood from its eye; of transparent animals; of abyssal fishes "tumbling upwards" to the surface of the sea; of water animals that do not get wet; of red snow; of a starfish with 200 million eggs; of a carp that lived for four years without a mouth; of the dancing mouse; of bees that are necessary to fertilize flowers; of ants that distribute seeds; of a fish (fierasfer) that swims right through the body of a sea-cucumber; of tailor-ants that use larvae as needle and thread; of how flies domesticate little green-flies, milking them, stabling them under ground and doubtless herding them in early summer; of how certain ants keep crickets for pets; of how certain organisms give out light and others electricity; of the anablepe, a Brazilian fish that has a sort of spectacles, or rather two pairs of eyes, one seeing in water and the other for seeing in air, as it swims at the surface; of how man's body is a museum of relics; of hairs on whales and the like; of how young birds all these and much else of the curious and unheard of!

Well does Goethe exclaim: "Nature! We are in her midst and know her not. She is incessantly speaking to us, but betrays not her secrets. She rejoices in illusion. Every one sees her in his own fashion. She hides under a thousand names and phrases, but is always the same.

"I praise her and all her work. She is all wise. I trust her."

WORDS AND BEYOND THEM

ONE does not have to go very far to get out of the range of speech into the realm of silences. For just outside the boundaries of turmoil is the ever-during sea of tranquility.

We make a tremendous noise at our work here on earth, and we are sure it must cleave a chasm in the sky, but somehow the stars are imperturbable after all and the roof of heaven does not fall down. At present men are engaged in making life intolerable for other men or taking it away altogether. One nation brings against another its latest fiendish engineery to throw a bigger monster farther than one has yet been thrown, and the concussion and the percussion deafen and drive mad and fill hospitals and asylums. Yet not very far out into the ether does this murderous racket go. The moon knows nothing of it. The sun still swings us round as a boy swings an apple on a stick. For all our cures and alarms, our trumpets and drums, our guns and our ships of the three sorts, Venus or Mars is not aware that the pens of cartographers halt in mid-career to know what new lines they shall draw for Europe's map.

One's own little world of one's own little life is set down in the middle of an unplumbed abyss of silence. After you have spoken, you have for all your eloquence and wisdom left your meaning unexpressed. The mystery hid in your own bosom eludes you. The riddle of your own whence-and-whither baffles you, though you puzzle at it in your own mind as your fingers might vainly wrestle with a provoking tangle of steel links to untie them.

A dog knows. Watch his face, his eyes on yours. They have denied him a soul, and he is aware of that. More than a walk, or a bone, he wants to bridge the gap. He would volunteer for the place of missing link. He would be aggrieved, could he know, that man has chosen the monkey and not the dog for his first cousin, and he cannot see how often his august lord and master by his foolish and trivial ways gives proof of his human kinship. For the faith of a dog is blind, and his king can do no wrong. He is ready to lick the hand of murderer or saint, and he will die as soon for a ragged tramp as for a plutocrat.

Yet the dumb brute has his own mode of speech. He knows, as man knows not, human language, how inadequate and poor his means of expression is. His best language is his love. His paw is a pleading sentence, and his eye is a spell reproach or joy.

So with your friend there rests on or soul no burden to be loquacious; you could not say half if you would, and there is no need to try. Those who understand music—which has not doubtfully been called the science of Heaven—know of one thing that seems to go on from the point where language leaves off. It carries climbing thought higher and higher," as Sir Edwin Arnold would say. Whether it be Browning's "bi Vogler" or the organist on more obvious plane of he "The Lost Chord," the musicians says "The rest my reason and welcome—tis we musicians know." The gratitude of submerged and striving and broken lives is him is that he carries human aspiration on high like a prophet who intercedes for his people. He is the advocate who pleads as the supreme tribunal. With eye closed one listens, tired out, perhaps by the effort of the finite toward infinity and the barriers go, and the unwearying light is shining, and from the other side thereomes the answer that does not depend upon a voice.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

CONVENTION OF T. P. A. IS CLOSED WITH BALL

Address of Wm. J. Harris Feature of Closing Session on Friday

The ball at the Ansley hotel Friday night, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the entire meeting, brought to a brilliant close the annual convention of the Travelers' Protective association which convened in Atlanta on Thursday.

Following the election of officers and the completion of the business of the session, the delegates were taken on an automobile ride to the Ford automobile plant, with a stop at the Stone Baking company's plant for refreshments, and later the entire party met at the Virginia convict camp where they were served a spread under the trees and were entertained by the singing and dancing of the convicts.

At the Friday session, Rev. S. R. Belk, state chaplain, was given unanimous indorsement for the office of national chaplain made vacant by the death of Rev. Homer T. Wilson recently at San Antonio, Texas.

Before the session closed Friday afternoon Wm. J. Harris, recently appointed member of the federal trade commission, made an address before the convention in which he set forth the aims and objects of that body showing the good it would perform for the commercial interests of the nation in seeing that justice is done between big and little concerns.

Friday's entertainment program for the ladies included an automobile tour of the city with a stop at C. J. Kamper's Peachtree store, where a delightful luncheon was served, and at Cox college at College Park, where a musical program was presented.

The next meeting of the state convention was awarded to Post M, of Valdosta, after a spirited contest in which Valdosta was opposed by Augusta and Macon. Speakers showed that Post M was the "baby" post of the state and that though now it had only a few members, if the state convention were held there it would no doubt increase its membership to near the hundred mark.

In addition to the re-election of J. M. Giddens as president and Albert Ehrlich as secretary, the convention named the following additional officers whose names were presented by the nominating committee:

First vice president, J. C. Harrison, of Atlanta; second vice president, C. W. Batson, of Waycross; third vice president, D. L. Stamps, of Rome.

Board of Directors—Resident members, H. J. Frank, M. F. Meyer, R. F. Linehan, J. Yarbrough Ferd, Neuberger; non-resident members, J. W. Bates, E. D. McDonald, Max Banner and Tom Sherman.

The following committee chairmen were also elected: Railroad, R. A. Broyles, of Atlanta; legislation, M. M. Anderson, Atlanta; press, J. M. Andrews, Atlanta; hotel, Dennis Fleming, Albany; good roads, R. E. Grady, Savannah; employment, E. L. Adams, Atlanta; state attorney, Hon. James L. Mayson, Atlanta; state chaplain, Rev. Dr. S. R. Belk, Atlanta.

NEGRO DESPERADO SHOT TO DEATH BY S. C. POSSE

(By Associated Press.)

PINEWOOD, S. C., April 10.—Joel Green, a negro desperado, was shot to death by a posse today after he had been treed in a swamp near here by bloodhounds. He seriously wounded J. C. Robbins, state penitentiary guard, in an encounter with his pursuers.

Green was wanted on a charge of robbery. The posse, headed by Robbins, located him in a swamp late yesterday, but after a battle in which the negro killed two bloodhounds, he escaped. He was armed with a shot gun, two pistols and a knife and wore a steel breast plate. Robbins was taken to a Columbia hospital.

LUNCHEON TO BOOST BROOKS CATTLE SHOW

On April 22 there will be a luncheon at the chamber of commerce for the purpose of arousing interest among Atlanta business men and others in the second annual cattle show which will be held in Brooks county May 28.

Charles D. Hurt was on Friday put in charge of the luncheon. Several prominent citizens of Brooks county will speak at the luncheon.

Among these will be J. W. Oglesby, Herbert W. Stubbs and R. C. McIntosh. A feature of the show will be the official Hereford cattle exhibit.

CARUM BOUND OVER ON MURDER CHARGE

George Carum, charged with stabbing to death Charles Maloff March 28, was bound over without bond charged with murder by Recorder Johnson Friday afternoon.

Police Sergeant Whatley testified as an eyewitness for the state. He said he saw Maloff and Carum fighting on the corner of Decatur and Courtland streets, and that Maloff raised his clothing and pointed to his side, saying "see there, I'se been cut."

Carum's plea was self defense.

WM. SCHLEY HOWARD TO SPEAK ON TUESDAY

Congressman William Schley Howard will be the principal speaker at a Dutch lunch of the Decatur board of trade Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Atlanta chamber of commerce building. Members of the board of trade can secure reservations for themselves and friends at 50 cents a plate. Many reservations have already been made. Following the luncheon, a membership campaign will be carried on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

GEN. HUERTA EXPECTED AT NEW YORK TODAY

Former Mexican Dictator Has Not Indicated What His Plans Are

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—There was activity in the local Mexican colony today in anticipation of the arrival here of General Victoriano Huerta, deposed president of Mexico. Huerta sailed from Spain on the steamer Antonio Lopez, due here this afternoon or tonight.

Mexicans here believed that a number of General Huerta's most intimate friends would greet him and confer concerning Mexican affairs. General Aureliano Blanquet, who was Huerta's war minister, and others who were members of his cabinet, were said either to be here or coming.

In a wireless dispatch General Huerta, replying to an inquiry, sent word that he was on a pleasure trip only, and had no plans.

At the Carranza consulate it was said no move had been made to prevent Huerta's landing. The steamer on which he is a passenger will proceed to Havana after remaining in New York two days and one report was that he would remain aboard and proceed to the Cuban capital.

Officials Are Not Worrying About What Huerto Does

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Secretary of Labor Wilson and Commissioner General Caminetti, of the immigration bureau, declare they are not worrying about the expected arrival of General Huerta in New York. Officials say they have no idea whether General Huerta plans simply to touch at New York en route to another port or to stop in the United States.

"There is nothing in his coming to New York," said Secretary Wilson, "that warrants the department of commerce and the immigration officials in treating General Huerta any differently than any other arriving immigrants."

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. ELIZABETH C. V. IRISH.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper Vannerson Irish, of Inman Park, a student of art at Chicago, died there April 6. The body was brought to Atlanta Saturday morning and funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Greenberg-Bond chapel. The Rev. W. H. LaFrade and the Rev. Arnold Ficklen will officiate and the interment will be in West View cemetery. Mrs. Irish is survived by her mother, Mrs. M. G. Vannerson; two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Chaney, of Texas, and Mrs. J. B. Ficklen, of Atlanta, and three brothers, J. H. Vannerson, of Columbia, S. C., and W. H. and H. L. Vannerson, of Atlanta.

Milk Wagon Drivers Mount Water Wagon Just for a While

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 10.—Milk wagon drivers were ordered today to mount the water wagon until their differences with the Illinois Milk Dealers' association are settled. The order was issued in letters to 2,600 drivers signed by L. P. Pitcle, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, who urged them to abstain from intoxicants as a "war measure."

The men are seeking one day off each week with pay.

BROOKS WANTS EXHIBIT AT SOUTHEASTERN FAIR

Industrial Club Already Planning Construction of Building in Atlanta

QUITMAN, Ga., April 10.—The Industrial club is investigating the project of erecting a building for the Brooks county exhibits at the Southeastern fair in Atlanta this fall. The matter of having a permanent building has been discussed and this committee will canvass the matter from every viewpoint and if considered advisable will ask the fair management to set aside space for the building.

The Industrial club will meet Tuesday next to discuss plans for the Animal Industry convention May 25 and also to hear Secretary Clarke's report as to the probability of getting the Dixie highway through this county.

Mr. Clarke attended the highway convention in Chattanooga and is expected to have a very interesting report. There is a strong movement at Moultrie for the highway from Moultrie to Quitman and on to Madison, Fla.

The campaign for county bonds for road improvements in this county will give a strong impetus to the plan for bringing the highway through this county.

JITNEY ORDINANCE SIGNED BY MAYOR AND IS NO WA-LAW

$17,500 to carry the project through when the city didn't have enough money. If Marietta street had not been widened and repaved, he said, the jitneys could not operate on the street, as they require smooth pavement. Now, however, he pointed, it is the most popular jitney route and the jitneys are gathering in the nickels, which otherwise would come to the company, which made their existence on this street possible. He referred in the same way to the baseball park.

The power company, he said, built the ball part at a cost of $60,000; bought the Atlanta club from a non-resident of the city for $11,000, and then turned it over to local sportsmen, who have run it in the interest of sport at a loss to the power company of $49,000. Now the jitneys are running out the car tracks taking a part of the crowd whic hgoes to the games.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—(Advt.)

JOHNSON HALTS PLAN TO PURCHASE RAILROAD

Governor of California Is Not Satisfied That Road Would Be State Asset

(By Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 10.—Report opposition by Governor Hiram W. Johnson to the suggested purchase by the state of the Western Pacific railroad, now in the hands of federal receivers, is expected to halt negotiations for the present. Until a final report by investigators has been made, the governor has said he would make no formal statement regarding his attitude toward the plan, but officials in his confidence reiterated today that he had definitely made up his mind that the plan was not entirely practicable at this time.

Throughout the investigation of the proposed purchase of the Western Pacific, Governor Johnson, it was pointed out, has sustained the position that ownership by the state should be sought if it could be shown that it were feasible, would be profitable and would receive a ready response from the people of the state.

Shortly after Rudolph Spreckels, of San Francisco, originator of the plan, and Charles S. Wheeler, an attorney of that city, laid the plan before the governor, he began an investigation into the present earning power of the railroad, its financial condition, the cost of extension into southern California, the building of feeders and the outlook for traffic agreements with other lines.

Spreckels went east to confer with New York financiers, returning a few days ago. Early this week he and Wheeler spent an afternoon with Governor Johnson and Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman discussing the project.

It is understood that Spreckels and Wheeler were still in favor of the scheme, but that Governor Johnson and the lieutenant governor cited several reasons that made the plan appear to them less practicable than at first.

MORRIS & COMPANY ADDS TO THEIR "SUPREME" LINE

An important step in the marketing of food products is seen in a recent announcement of Morris & Company.

Having established a reputation for high grade goods in their Supreme Hams and Bacon, this firm, through the methods of their distribution and sales force, is endeavoring to enlarge their line with the addition of other products such as Eggs, Poultry, Butter, Sardines, Sauer Kraut, Evaporated Milk, etc.

A forecast of the success of a move like this is to be found in the attitude which the dealer assumes toward it.

That Morris & Company took this factor into consideration in planning the enlargement of their line of food products is evidenced in the manner in which it affects both the dealer and the consumer.

In the first place the dealer is protected in the point of quality. He can supply his customers with a line of goods that bears the brand of unquestionable quality. In the second place he can make his purchases for the goods in a more economical manner. Buying goods of this character from a half dozen sources means heavy freight bills. Buying them from one source means a reduction in the number of shipments and consequently smaller freight bills. (Advt.)

WILLIAM J. HARRIS PAYS VISIT TO ATLANTA

Member of Federal Trade Board Sees Aid Ahead for Business

After spending two days in Atlanta William J. Harris, member of the federal trade board and former director of the United States census, left Saturday afternoon for Dublin, Ga., on a brief visit to his sister, Mrs. W. T. Garrett. From Dublin Mr. Harris will go to Sandersville for a visit of a day or two with another sister, Mrs. John Quinn.

Two or three members of the trade board were called away from Washington and this necessitated a short recess of the board. Mr. Harris took advantage of this recess to come home to Georgia for a few days. He says that since the members of the trade board went into office they had completed the details of organization and mapped out their work.

In the opinion of Mr. Harris, expressed by him in an address Friday afternoon to the T. P. A. convention, the trade board is going to prove a great aid to general business in the United States. He said that the purpose of the board is "constructive helpfulness" to American business.

MISERY IN HEAD AND BACK

A Lady Writes She Suffered So, Would Have to Stay in Bed for Days. Is Now Well.

Cartersville, Ga.—The following is from Mrs. Will T. Lawhon, of Cartersville: "I am writing this because I want other women to know what Cardui has done for me.

Before I commenced taking Cardui I had headache so bad I would have to stay in bed for days at a time. I suffered untold misery with my head and back.

I saw Cardui advertised and decided to try it. I took three bottles. After taking the first bottle I could see a vast difference in my feelings, and decided to take the second, and took three in all.

After taking the third bottle, I felt like a new woman altogether, and I will always praise Cardui as a boon to woman's ills.

I believe it saved my life and I am now a well, healthy woman, and my husband joins me in my praise for Cardui.

Before I began taking Cardui, I was irregular, but since I began taking it I have been regular and without any pain.

Everyone tells me I am the picture of health since taking Cardui. I will recommend it to every suffering woman."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic, why not give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial? Begin today.

Your druggist sells Cardui.—(Advt.)

THE BOY IS IN JAIL

For the Kelly robbery.

He says—

"N—— used to come down here on Decatur street to L——'s saloon, where I hung out at, and get to talking about Mr. Kelly, and that Mr. and Mrs. Kelly carried a good lot of money on them—

"I usually hang out at B——'s saloon, and he came down there and we went up on Pryor street in a stairway—and we come out of there and we walked to Edgewood avenue and up across Five Points and up to Broad street and Alabama, and we all three walked into that saloon and sat down by the stove—

"While we were in the saloon —— gave me a gun—

"He said he would stay in town and have a room fixed for us to come to—

"The next thing I remember was Sunday morning—

"N—— came in my room and woke me up, and he got to tell me what we had done. N—— said that as I came down the street, I took my gun and threw it on somebody—

"N—— went out and got a paper—

"I sat there and read about it, about Mr. and Mrs. Kelly being robbed."

You Will Be in Church

Tomorrow, think of that boy's Sunday morning waking!

A companion in the crime has already been sentenced to twenty years.

The boy is waiting sentence for the robbery

But what of the saloons where the crime was hatched?

When your Mayor and Council license these breeders of crime to break the law, can your police hope to cope with the criminals infesting them?

If there were a police station in each quarter-mile, instead of the one at the center of twenty-five square miles, declared hopelessly inadequate by experts—

If the force were quadrupled, instead of the too few men now trying to police the city—

Crime would still increase, so long as public officials and leading citizens, by their actions, express contempt for law, and sanction its violation in saloons and locker-clubs.

The Boy Shot at Club

The girl drunk in the Chapman meeting—

The burglary committed by the man afire with whisky bought at the —— club—he now serving ten years for his crime—the club still going—

The man killed before Carnegie library—

The attempted suicide in the —— club—

Who is responsible for these horrors?

Are you?

Do owners of saloons—do blind-tigers masquerading as locker-clubs, point to you and say—

"What of him? What of her?

"Is the law only for such as us?

"If they obeyed, then we—"

Where Leads Jesus?

He could not compromise with sin.
Can you?
He died for you.
Have you ever sacrificed—
Have you ever given up anything for Him?
He said—
"If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow me."
Do this for Him—Follow Him!

Crackers Stage Last Exhibition Game; Federal League Opens Season Today

Crackers Play Last Exhibition Of Year Today

Manager Smith Sends Charges Against Havana Reds for Fourth Clash Between Two Teams--Thompson or Williams to Pitch--Friday's Game Won Easily

The last chance to take a slant at the array of baseball talent, which will shoulder arms next week and fare forth to bear Atlanta's colors in the southern league baseball battle, in preliminary workouts is offered fandom today. The Crackers hook up with the Havana Reds in the fourth and last game of the series between the two teams. The game will begin shortly after 3 o'clock.

Today's game affords the local force opportunity to run up a string of eight straight victories, since they have already cashed up seven to their credit. They began by grabbing one from Louisville, another from the Braves, followed these with two straight from the Pirates, and have landed all of the three played with the Reds. While no figures are available, it is probable that this is a record for a local team in exhibition games. It is certainly a very creditable showing, considering the class of the clubs from which the first four games were won.

The line-up which will race the Cubans in this final tilt is the same that has been used for several days past with the exception of batery materil. Thompson or Williams will be the pitching choice, while Rumler will doubtless be on the other end of the line. Ballesteros, the youngster who held the Crackers to five hits Wednesday, is a likely choice for the Reds, with Ferrer doing the receiving.

The third game of the series Friday resulted in an easy win for the Crackers. The Cubans cracked at intervals along the route in their defense, and permitted runners to scuttle over the platter with frequency. After gaining a one-run lead in the opening frame, they began to rip apart at the seams in the last half of the same chapter, and the home guard promptly took the lead, and was never headed.

Ed Dent did the flinging for the Smithies, and breezed along in easy fashion. A fumble by Potts in the first frame allowed a man to get on, and after two had been retired, Lujan pinched a safe one to right, counting the lone run for the visitors. Thereafter the Reds found it impossible to smash one when it would have profited them anything. They turned in a total of eight safe drives, but with the exception of the first safe rap by Lujan in the opening frame, they were ill-timed.

After the game it was announced that Joe Jenkins and Ed Manning had signed their contracts for the season. Ed Dent is now the only member of the squad who has not yet stuck his name to a parchment. It was also announced that Infielder George Stutz had been given his release and that he will leave at once for Streator, Ill., where he will manage a club in the Illinois-Missouri league.

DIANA DILLPICKLES (THEY FIND HER AGE!---AND KEEP IT) IN HER HOT SKETCH

Alabama Flinger Holds Tech Batters Well in Hand

BY INNIS BROWN

A tall, towheaded lad, who works with his right flipper, toiling for the University of Alabama team, was the chief reason why Coach Heisman's Yellow Jackets took the count at the hands of the lads of the boys from Tuscaloosa in the first of their two-game series at Grant Field Friday afternoon. The score showed 2 to 1, with Coach Graves' lads swinging on the large end.

Boman was the hero's moniker, and in plain terms he had the Jackets supping from his paws throughout the entire distance. He allowed them three safe taps, but they were about as widely separated as elections of Republican governors in Georgia. Only one of the blows caused an alarm in the Red and White camp, and it required a two-base heave by one of Homan's supporting cast a minute or so before to make even this effort worth while.

This tawney-haired youngster from the adjoining commonwealth had a nice assortment of slabbing wares to offer. He showed lots of speed, was all there with the control, and carried a very effective hook. He had such good batters as Brick Smith, Frogey Morrison, Doc Witherington, and others completely under control. This bunch can generally get into a pretty fair acquaintance with even good college pitching by the time they have been thrown with it or against it for six or seven frames, but not with the repertoire carried by Boman.

He began to warm up to the task at hand right off the bat, by sending Edgar Montague back to the bench on three swings in the first frame, and just to show that he wasn't losing anything along the route, he whiffed Edgar again in the ninth round, and followed by sitting Ralph Malone down immediately afterward over the same route. All told he made a collection of eight strike-outs, hooking Montague three times, Freas, and Spence twice and Malone once. Also he issued just one base on balls.

Jim Sender in the meantime was working a very creditable game himself. However, the Alabama boys managed to crowd into one inning the bulk of the damage wrecked on Jim. He lost his aim temporarily in the fifth, just long enough, in fact, to issue free transportation to Hatchett. Unfortunately he got by back when Rabb, following Hatchett came up. For he put one in easy reach of the eager Rabb. It might be explained that Rabb had previously made a couple of the lustiest heaves ever launched from the third corner at Grant Field, and he was anxious to redeem himself. He did. He slammed a high one between Ed Montague and Ralph Malone good enough, for three bags, counting Hatchett. With none down the infield drew in to trap the marauder at the plate. But Rabin boasted one past Spence so fast that he had no chance to lay hold of it, and Rabb trotted in with thewinning run for the game.

The two teams meet again this afternoon for their second battle. Coach Heisman has plenty to send in Bryant his big lefthander to hold the opposition in check. while Coach Graves has a choice between Smith and Stevenson. The Jackets are slightly more than anxious to nail this second game, because another defeat will make their chance for the southern title look muddied and mussed up. Bryant may be able to turn the trick. Or rather Bryant may be able to hold the visitors in check until such time as his mates begin to take liberties with the flinging of the opposing hurler. But unless they show more aptitude in swinging their clubs against the pitching choice of Graves today, than they did against Friend Boman, they are going to saddle a tought job on Bryant.

The game was rather devoid of fielding features, though three double plays were pulled. Cargile robbed Malone on a drive over second in the very first round. With Hill on first, the visiting shortstop made a dash toward second to take a throw on what he thought was an attempt to steal by Hill. He arrived just in time to nab Malone's drive, tag the bag and catch Ralph at first. On a hit and run in the third Morrison hiked too far down the line on Senter's left to right, and Hatchett had little trouble in nailing him after the catch. Senter, Hill and Witherington smothered two in the fifth, when with runners on first, Jirk grabbed a tap by Wells, and choked Ladd off to Hill, who relayed to first in time to get the visiting captain.

Frank Browning umpired the game, and offered for the approval of the spectators a fine foghorn vocal equipment. His decisions were satisfactory.

Federals Open Season Today

Chicago, Kansas City, Baltimore and Brooklyn Draw Opening Dates at Home

CHICAGO, April 10.—Federal league clubs got into action today, four days in advance of the start or the play in the American and National leagues, with games in Chicago, Baltimore, Kansas City and Brooklyn.

Big crowds were expected to turn out to see the opening day battles, according to reports received at the league headquarters. President Gilmore was present at the Kansas city-Pittsburg game. The chief executive of the Federals was enthusiastic over the prospects of his organization and predicted the most prosperous season since the start of the league.

Today's schedule is as follows:

St. Louis at Chicago.
Pittsburg at Kansas City.
Buffalo at Brooklyn.

In Chicago the game was to be preceded by an automobile parade from Grant Park on the lake front to Weeghman park. William Hale Thompson, mayor-elect of Chicago, was to toss the first ball. Speeches by Mayor Carter H. Harrison, Governor Edward F. Dunne and other notables were a part of the ceremonies.

Claude Hendrix, the veteran National leaguer, was the pitching selection for Chicago, while Fielder Jones, manager of the St. Louis club, planned to start Eddie Plank, a former star of the Philadelphia Americans.

Manager Joe Tinker of the Chicago club planned to direct the play from the coaching line give Jimmy Smtn, a 19 year old recruit, a chance to display his skill at shortstop.

Georgia Trims Mercer in First

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—Georgia defeated Mercer Friday afternoon in a fast exciting game 3 to 2. Mercer scored in the first and fourth and seemed to have the game until the sixth when Georgia counted two. A base on balls followed by two hits tied it up. The game was won in the seventh when McWhorter singled stole second and scored on an error. Hitchcock and Bell both worked well and with better support the game would have been different. Howard McWhorter made a wonderful catch in the ninth and seems to have the right field job. Corley and Clements face each other today. Otto Jordan umpired.

Gotham Bowlers Lead in Tourney

NEW YORK, April 10.—Bowlers from this city and vicinity had displaced the Canadians from the leading positions in all divisions of the National Bowling tournament today. Edward Chickering, of New York, stood at the head of the singles with a score of 648, and three other New York bowlers had beaten the previous high score of 602 rolled by P. J. Pelletier, of Montreal.

Dunbar and Wilson, of this city, topped the scores in the doubles with 1,206, having displaced Cattarinich and La Belle, of Montreal. In the five-men team matches the Roseville A. A., of Newark, N. J., held high score with 2,850, displacing the Canadians of Montreal. C. S. Tate, of Newark, headed the list of high single scores with 257.

The annual convention of the National Bowling association will be held here tomorrow afternoon.

Portland Police Stop All Boxing

PORTLAND, Ore. April 10.—Chief of Police Clark put a ban on all boxing bouts, amateur and professional, in Portland Friday. The regulations will be in force until a new city ordinance governing amateur bouts has been acted on by the city commissioners.

It is alleged that athletic clubs are violating a law permitting four round amateur bouts.

BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE FINISH.

Gone are the golden molars
That flashed on a world at bay;
Gone is the regal bearing
That sticks with the champion's sway;
Flat on his back in the resin
With the tale of his glory done—
Merely a middle-aged fat man
Blinking up in the Cuban sun.

Last week as king of the fighters
He looked to a world-wide thrill;
Lord of the burly sluggers
Who bowed to his magic skill;
But shuffling on in the shadows,
He drifts to a distant shore,
Where no one cares to remember
As long as the week before.

THE CRY OF "FAKE."

"I've a proposition to put up," writes an Innocent bystander, who merely happens to be interested in the sportive field. "In my opinion there is entirely too much talk of fake, not only among the spectators—who are ignorant—but among sporting writers, who should know better."

"Take up," he continues, "the run of the sporting game at large. In almost every instance you will find that the sport has been honestly conducted on the field. We have had any number of instances in world's series games alone where thousands of dollars were lost by club owners because the series was honestly played and decided solely upon its merits. The majority of people now connected with sport have a fair amount of common sense—enough at least to know that honesty pays—even more in sport than anywhere else—for every move in sport is under the glare of eternal publicity."

UNDOUBTEDLY.

This viewpoint stands upon the Plateau of Truth. Innocent Bystander is correct to the ultimate dot. Here and there crookedness develops in sport—for sport is conducted largely by human beings and not every human being extant is always as straight as the shortest distance between two points.

But the vast bulk of sport is honestly turned—not only because it pays, but because no other industry is so closely watched and jammed under the great white spotlight.

There are too many today who believe that everything is crooked until it is proven straight. And a big part of this belief comes from ignorance—ignorance that is too often fed by sport historians who have probably never considered the harm they were doing to an industry that gives them a living and a good many millions pleasure and recreation they could get no other way.

OR, AS HENLEY ALMOST SAID—
It matters not how straight the game,
How on the level be the toss,
There's always some in the frame
To whisper of a double-cross.

We are willing to confess that we have had our share of guilt in the above; but in justice to the game at large the only fair system is to wait until the crookedness is proven and nail that hard—but rather as the exception than the outstanding rule.

OFFSIDE PLAYS.

In summing up the finish of any contender in any game it is merely a matter of how long he sticks around.

They are all going to retire before they get trimmed—but somehow they never quite get by that last one.

STARTING SOMETHING.

Dear Sir—Please answer this:*In your opinion are the Feds strong enough to be ranked as a major league or not? Make it Yes or No.

JUST A BUG.

We'll do better than that—we'll make it both Yes and No. The Feds, in playing strength, are not yet up to the standard of the American or National leagues—taking the full playing power of all three circuits.

But the National league has had forty years to build up—the American league fifteen—and the Feds are now starting their second campaign. In which brief time they have done wonderfully well; just as any enterprising set of citizens who have sufficient kale can do well in these bullion loving times.

The Feds started out to be a major league—and they are well on their way if they can maintain their present pace. But sport is a matter of tradition and sentiment and time as well as other things. And besides we haven't seen sufficient Federal league play to be any court of fanatical arbitration. Is that fair enough?

STARTING SOMETHING ELSE.

Dear Sir—In your opinion was the Johnson-Willard fight on the level or not? I've heard that it wasn't, but would like to get an inside tip.

As far as we know—minus any inside tip—Willard won a fairly fought fight bereft of fake. A middle-aged fat man would be more likely to stage a fake in the twelfth or fourteenth round than in the twenty-sixth. In addition to which Johnson's pride in ranking as heavyweight champion was almost beyond understanding. It meant more to his colossal vanity than a great many thousand dollars would ever be able to buy. And, once in a while, there is a sporting event settled without any crooked attachment, the opinion of a great many to the contrary notwithstanding, as the popular phrase goes.

"I intend to get all the money I can," announces Mr. Willard—who in this respect hasn't anything on 60,000,000 pr 80,000,000 of his fellow citizens.

"Willard's backers refuse $3,000 a week to show the champion"—proving again that while the Pen may have a distinct edge on the Sword, it is a bush league piker compared to the Punch.

Still, there is this to be said of Willard—in showing him the promoters will display more heavyweight championship flesh than was ever shown before. More by about three inches and some twenty odd pounds.

Two Games In Prep League

Boys High Wins From G. M. A., Donald Fraser and Marist Draw--Tech High vs. Peacock Today

Two games were staged in the local prep league on opening day Friday, resulting in a win for Boys' High over G. M. A., and a ten inning tie between Donald Fraser and Marist. Tech High and Peacock, who were scheduled to hook up, play their games today.

Boys' High went after G. M. A. hammer and tongs, and during the first four innings rolled up eleven counters, while Guy Priddell was holding G. M. A. in great style. For eight innings only one man had connected with Priddell's delivery for a safety, and a larger number of them had fallen victims to his curves. The game ended 11 to 6 in favor of the Gilmer street nine.

However, in the ninth round, after the first man up had fanned, G. M. A. made a most sensational spurt, and annexed six runs and six hits.

Alfred Scott, star basketball player, and also distinguished in football for his trusty toe, played brilliant ball in every department. He handled all chances in centerfield perfectly, and in the fourth round connected for a long drive to deep left for a homer, scoring two men ahead of him. Jim Lowry at first put up a good game, and the work of Weaver was also good.

Bennet, at first, and Fleimer, at third, played good ball in the field for G. M. A. The former's batting was also good. Burton, after getting away to a poor start, grew better and after the fourth inning pitched fairly good ball.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Boys' High	102	620	000—11	19	1
G. M. A.	000	000	006—	6	7	4

By a pretty rally in the ninth round after one man was gone, Donald Fraser succeeded in sending two men across the plate, and tying the count with Marist. The game ended 6 to 6 after ten innings had been played and was called on account of darkness.

Despite the fact that fielding was rather rough on both sides, interest was great throughout, and due to several batting rallies and some clever exhibition of the art of base running, the game was interesting and intense throughout. Marist at the start assumed the lead, and until the ninth had things their own way. Their fielding in this period was worst of the game by both sides.

The work of Reeves on third and his batting were the features of the game. In the ninth with a man on and two down he slammed a triple to left, and scored a minute later with the tying run. Stanley at first and Pollock's pitching were other features.

Wrigley played good ball for the Ivy street bunch, stealing five sacks during the encounter, and connecting for a couple of safe swats. Brock pitched a fairly good game, while Liddell's catching was good.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Marist	200	201	010	6—8	7	4
Donald Fraser	000	200	022	0—6	8	4

Brock and Liddell; Pollock and Carroway.

Vandy Winner Over Moccasins

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—Taking advantage of the visitors' errors, Vanderbilt won from the University of Chattanooga here today by a score of 8 to 2. Weakes, who pitched for the Commodores, held the visitors safe all the way, and was not scored on until the ninth inning, when center fielder Langley, with one man on base, knocked a home run over the right field stands.

Vanderbilt hit the ball hard, while the Chattanoogans fielded raggedly and erratically. Vandy scored only one or two runs in the third inning on Weakes' hit, Curry's single a stolen base, and Moore's error.

In the fifth inning Vanderbilt added four more. Young led off with a double. Weakes singled, and Turner hit into a double play, Weakes being caught off second and Young scoring. Curry was walked, Moore singled, and both came in when Davidson knocked a long home run over the center fielder's head.

Vandy took one more in the seventh on a single by Turner, a sacrifice by Curry, and an error by Lazard. In the next inning they added another on a single and an error.

The University of Chattanooga plays here again today. This is the first athletic series ever staged between the two schools.

AGGRESSIVE BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 11 to 15 Points Higher Than Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—There was a renewal of yesterday's late buying movement in the cotton market this morning and prices sold 9 to 12 points above last night's closing figures during the early trading or back to within 2 or 3 points of the week's high records. A big advance in Liverpool and continued talk of better prospects for an early peace in Europe appeared to be the chief factors on the advance.

Realizing caused a marked reaction later, but the market closed steady and from 11 to 15 points above Friday's final quotations.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—A much higher Liverpool than expected caused an excited opening in cotton today with prices showing a strong upward tendency. In the first half hour of business the trading months advanced 13 to 14 points. The demand appeared to be about equally divided between covering shorts and longs entering the market.

The market continued to advance on the same influences that were at work yesterday, peace talk, reports of better business conditions and optimistic accounts from the stock market. At the best of the morning prices were 20 to 21 points up. Some weak at 17 points up.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 10.—While new high records have been established in the cotton market here during the past week the sentiment has been nervous and rather unsettled. Firmness in Liverpool and the large spot sales there seemed to be chiefly responsible for the advances which carried December contracts up to the 10¾c level in the local market on Tuesday, but Liverpool weakened later in the week and there was a break here of about 60 points which, however, was partly recovered during today's trading.

The reaction of nearly $2 a bale reflected more or less general realizing on the position and talk that local traders beside the action of prices has suggested an unsettled effect a more bearish feeling. Apprehensions have been expressed, for instance, that the reported decrease in acreage from experters would be followed by increased southern offerings against actual sales in the cotton goods trade and selling premiums, and the tendency to liquidate long commitments has been pronounced. The weather and crop predictions that present prices for new crop months paid for the full equivalent of a large acreage than originally expected.

A private report early this week indicated a decrease of about 20 per cent in acreage and was regarded as a bullish statement. Realizing followed the publication of a decrease of 38 to 40 per cent in the use of fertilizers, but reports from the end of February also suggested a reduction of fully 25 per cent in acreage and another private estimate today made the decrease only 16.8 per cent.

The latter figure seemed to strengthen reactionary sentiment, while Liverpool's recent firm ruling has also been partly attributed to the reason that exportations of cotton it was reported on today's late advance that southern mills were not offering cotton for sale and while buyers may also have been encouraged by a conviction that a break below 10c from the crop months would revive earlier ideas of reduced acreage.

New York stocks continue to accumulate, but so far deliveries on contracts have been limited to an moderate sales of May have been absorbed at the discount of about 30 points under July.

HAYWARD & CLARK'S COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—Assumption officially denied all foundation for yesterday's peace rumors emanating from Wall street and which created a aggressive buying movement in stocks and cotton.

Deprived of its apeace argument, New York now claims that support was largely due to intense covering over the general business revival and belief in unbounded expansion and prosperity. There is an abundance of money available for investment and speculation, resulting from high prices for our cereal crops and foreign army orders.

The New York Commercial puts the acreage at 30,966,000, a reduction of 16.8 per cent, but says report indicates that curtailment is not certain. No shortage of mules in two-thirds of the cotton area. Labor supply ample through the belt. Indicated reduction in fertilizers at present is 40 per cent.

Our market opened this morning about 12 points higher and reacted only a few points in spite of the sharp rise. Selling was intimidated by the manifestation of power and bullish enthusiasm, and general buying soon carried July to 10.18 and October to 10.30.

Strictly cotton facts seem to have little weight at the moment. The intense optimism and abundance of means in the north seem to control the situation and carry everything before them.

General rains occurred overnight west of the river with abundant precipitation over Arkansas. Indications are for fair weather in the Carolinas, the western states and Arkansas; cloudy with showers in the central states and Alabama.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET CONTINUES VERY STRONG

Canadian Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific and Copper Led Advance

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—The buoyancy which marked yesterday's trading on the stock exchange continued with unabated vigor at the opening of today's business. Substantial gains were recorded in all important issues. United States Steel was again the prominent feature of the opening, with one block of 15,000 shares at 87¾ to 87⅞, against yesterday's close of 87. Advances of 1 to 3 points were made by transcontinents, Atchison, Lehigh Valley and Reading, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting and specialties. Bethlehem Steel was the only marked exception to the general trend, declining 2 points. Much of the further advance was attributed to urgent covering of short contracts.

The course of today's feverishly active stock market seemed to indicate that the appetite of the speculative public had been satisfied for a time. Gains of 1 to 3 points were registered at the outset, but United States Steel failing its leadership by ascending to the high level of 88 on transactions which approached 200,000 shares for the two hour session. Other stocks, especially those in the dividend class, were prominent in the rise, which attained widest proportions in the first half hour. Thereafter selling for profits, to which the rope was no small factor served as a brake on further advances, and the reaction was from less general. Toward the close prices were again advanced but in no instance did they recover to their best.

The closing was strong.

Bonds were strong.

E. F. HUTTON & CO. COTTON LETTER.

April 10.—Under a strong upward, heavy short covering, big buying by Wall Street houses accompanied by a sensational bull news which accounted for today's advance, prices for cotton futures reached the bullish fever and are buying power within the limits of stocks is being exhausted. Strength of stocks is being reflected in cotton and weakness in stocks is becoming more and more bullish as confidence is being restored in the big speculative centers. Peace rumors are in the air and while negotiations may be seem months away their effect is being anticipated for the first time this season the visible supply shows a decrease amounting to 150,000 bales. The Chronicle gives 260,000 bales on ship-board to be cleared in next few days indicating further heavy exports. Bullish news is heard on all sides and until prices reach a much higher level it seems useless to advocate anything but the bull side.

WHEAT IN CHICAGO WAS NERVOUS ALL THE SESSION

Wheat Closed 1-8c Up to 1-4c Off--Corn and Oats Off, Pork, Lard and Sides Up

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 10.—Fresh rains over the greater part of the winter crop belt gave wheat bears an advantage today. Prices declined 3 to 1¼c lower, prices gradually recovered to the highest night levels.

An important element in later wheat trading was the apparent timidity of speculators in regard to taking to the selling side. The close was unsettled, ⅛ off to ¼c up compared with last night.

Corn developed firmness as a result of the rainfall, while offerings were readily absorbed. Opening 3-8c to 5-8c lower, it rose to slightly above last night.

Corn reacted owing to slowness of cash demand, and closed steady at ⅛@¼ to ⅜@⅝ net decline.

Oats were easy.

Advancing hog quotations lifted provisions.

Ivy Street Parcel, Between Baker and Peachtree Streets, Change Hands at Consideration of $47,500--Several Unofficial Announcements of Sales and New Building Projects--Looks Like an Old-Time Spring Market

Edgar O. Newton has sold to the Fulton Finance company the property at 252 Ivy street, which is between Baker street and the intersection of Peachtree street.

The consideration was $47,500. The lot has a frontage of 55 feet and a depth of 97 feet, with a dwelling on it. The transaction went to record in the form of a bond for title.

TRADES BREWING.

There were several unofficial announcements Saturday of offers made on central property, and it begins to look as if an old-time spring market was here once more.

In fact, getting offers is not so difficult in some cases as finding acceptances from sellers. There are also one or two unofficial building announcements which may become definite within a few days.

Real estate waits on general business, but there is plenty of evidence that the business revival is beginning. There are two firm beliefs generally held. They are that when the stock market and the business depression improve, all other business will follow suit soon.

Both stocks and steel are improving in fact, the stock market is really sensational. Cotton continues to rise, showing still another gain on Saturday.

All these things are having their effect on real estate. In addition to some large deals, there is coming a small transactions, to say nothing of a steady improvement in building.

FOUR CANDIDATES NOW IN RACE FOR ORDINARY

Others Expected to Seek Place Vacated by Judge Wilkinson's Death

Four candidates are definitely in the race for ordinary of Fulton county to succeed John R. Wilkinson and others may announce in the next few hours.

The four are Courtland S. Winn, ex-mayor of Atlanta and ex-county administrator; Thomas H. Jeffries, deputy clerk of Fulton superior court; W. B. Hammond, ex-judge of Fulton superior court; Paul Donehoo, Fulton county coroner.

Mr. Winn was county administrator under Ordinary Wilkinson for six years and in his law practice has made a specialty of wills and administrating estates. His friends say his qualifications for the office will make him a very strong candidate.

Thomas H. Jeffries will be supported by a ticket composed of Councilman Claude C. Mason and the present office force in the ordinary's office, consisting of Arthur R. Marbut, James W. Stallings and William Robinson. Mr. Jeffries is counting on the support of those who supported Ordinary Wilkinson in his race against Marcellus M. Anderson three years ago, and will have the further support of Carlos H. Mason, who supported Mr. Anderson in that race. Carlos H. Mason is a brother of Claude C. Mason.

RESIGNED IN 1885.

Judge Hammond was elected to Fulton superior court by the legislature of 1882 to fill an unexpired term and in 1884 was elected to a full term. In 1884 he resigned. He served ten years on the city board of education, he is now chairman of Trinity Methodist church trustees and chairman of Wesleyan Female college trustees. He is a lawyer of many years' experience and his friends expect him to be a serious contender for the place.

Coroner Paul Donehoo, who is by profession a lawyer, states that the clerical work of the office, which he cannot perform on account of his blindness, will be done by the clerical force, just as it is usually done, and that the entire time will be devoted to the judicial duties of the office, which he is thoroughly familiar with by virtue of his legal training and experience.

Among the others who are mentioned as possible candidates are Hamilton Douglas, the well-known Atlanta lawyer and dean of the Atlanta Law school, who has been waited on by a committee representing students and alumni of the school and urged to run; Walter C. Taylor, the popular city clerk of Atlanta; Marcellus M. Anderson, who came within fifty votes of being elected ordinary three years ago, and who was chief clerk to Ordinary Wilkinson for several years before he made the race.

ROCHESTER STREET CAR MEN VOTE TO STRIKE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 10.—The Rochester Street railway men at their meeting this morning voted unanimously to empower John J. O'Dea, president of division 282 of the Amalgamated union, to appoint a committee at his discretion to call a strike. Nearly 900 attended the meeting and the almost unanimous sentiment was in favor of a strike, if the railway companies involved did not back down.

MACON PRESBYTERY TO CONVENE IN QUITMAN

Spring Meeting Opens Tuesday With Sermon by Rev. J. H. Owens

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

QUITMAN, Ga., April 10.—Macon Presbytery holds its spring meeting in Quitman this year, convening here next Tuesday night, April 13. The opening sermon will be by Rev. J. H. Owens, of the Vinsville church at Macon, who is the retiring moderator. Following the sermon will be the roll call of churches and representatives and the election of officers. The clerk of the Presbytery is Rev. J. W. Stokes, of Americus.

The churches included in this Presbytery are Macon, Columbus, Americus, Albany, Bainbridge, Cairo, Camilla, Thomasville, Moultrie, Cordele, Quitman and the smaller towns comprised in this territory. There will be about forty preachers and representatives here for the meeting and the session will last through Friday, probably adjourning Friday afternoon.

Wednesday morning the business sessions will begin and at 11 o'clock there will be a sermon by one of the visiting ministers and the Presbyterial commission service participated in by members of the local church.

The Macon Presbytery met in Quitman over ten years ago. Since then the Presbyterians here have built a handsome new church and many interesting changes have been made.

Savannah Presbytery Will Meet Tuesday

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 10.—The Savannah Presbytery will meet in Savannah on Tuesday. Rev. R. A. Brown, of Waycross, is the retiring moderator and will preach the opening sermon. Rev. R. M. Mann, of Fitzgerald, is the state's clerk and will fill that position throughout the session. It is not known who the moderator will be but it is expected Rev. W. Moore Scott, of Savannah, will be chosen to that place. It is expected the Presbytery will dissolve the pastoral relations between Rev. W. A. Nisbet and the Hull Memorial church in Savannah. Dr. Nisbet has asked that this be done.

COLUMBUS PLANS BIG CELEBRATION THIS WEEK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 10.—On April 16, 1865, the last battle of the Civil war was fought at Columbus, Ga., and the city burned. This week Columbus will observe the fiftieth anniversary of this last armed conflict with a "Home Coming," from the 14th to the 17th inclusive. One of the most interesting and pleasurable of the many attractions provided for visitors will be a grand pageant on the 16th in celebration of the battle of Columbus, to be given under the direction of the Columbus Historical society.

TO PROBE ALABAMA DEP'T. OF AGRICULTURE

(By Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 10.—The state legislative investigating committee today ordered an investigation of the accounts and all features of the state department of agriculture. Three weeks is expected to be necessary to complete this examination by a state public accounts examiner and the committee has ordered a recess for that length of time. Witnesses in support of the state health officers' department were heard today.

Mrs. E. H. Blackman Dies

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS TO BE HOST TO BANKERS APRIL 19

Secretary L. J. Cooper Announces Complete Program for Meeting of Group

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WAYCROSS, Ga., April 10—All arrangements in connection with the tenth annual meeting of Group One, Georgia Bankers' association, in Waycross, April 19, have been completed. The program was announced here today by L. J. Cooper, secretary of Group One. Abial Winn, of Valdosta, is chairman, and C. Holmes Sheldon, of Brunswick, vice chairman.

Promptly at 10 o'clock April 19 the meeting will be called to order by the chairman. The opening prayer will be by Dr. C. H. B. Turner, of Grace Episcopal church. Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Scott T. Beaton and Harry D. Reed, secretary of the Waycross Bar association. W. H. Searcy, of Cairo, will respond to the address of welcome, after which the chairman will announce the appointment of committees.

Addresses will be delivered by M. B. Wellborn, chairman of the board, Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta; Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture at Athens; Captain F. D. Bloodworth, of Savannah, whose subject will be "Collection and Collection charges." Reports of committees and officers, election of officers and announcements will bring the business meeting to a close. An informal dance at the Phoenix hotel at night will be a feature of the entertainment program.

It is expected that about one Hundred bankers will attend the meeting in Waycross. The local committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting is composed of M. L. Bunn, of the Citizens' bank; C. V. Stanton, of the First National, and C. C. Mertens, of the Georgia State.

Foreman Must Pay Alimony

Judge W. D. Ellis ordered Saturday that Custer R. Foreman, a traveling auditor, pay to his wife, Mrs. Nina Metzger Foreman, $60 a month alimony.

Foreman was arrested on a ne exeat pril 1, when he made $300 bond against his leaving the state rather than pay alimony. Besides alimony, Mrs. Foreman asks custody of her three children and a total divorce.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

STRIKE OF ENGLISH DOCKERS COLLAPSES

Practically All Workers Helping to Relieve Freight Congestion at Birkenhead

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 10.—Formation of a dockers' battalion, coupled with the threat of the executives of the unions to suspend the strikers, had the anticipated effect at Birkenhead today—the week end strike of dockers collapsed.

After refusing for six weeks to work overtime or on Saturdays, the men have given in and practically the entire body is helping today to relieve the freight congestion.

Armistead Freed

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 11.—Frank Armistead, who shot and killed Hyman L. Pitts last Saturday night, was freed today by the Pike county grand jury. The shooting took place in Williamson, and the wounded man was brought to the hospital in this city, where he later died. Armistead was at the time of the shooting acting as town marshal of Williamson and the shooting was the result of an old quarrel.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Impelled by the laudable ambition to be the Ordinary of my native county, and upon the solicitation of many partial friends,

I hereby announce to the voters of Fulton county my candidacy for the office of Ordinary.

Associated with me are Mr. Claude C. Mason, Councilman from the Tenth Ward, and the entire office force associated with the late Judge Wilkinson.

If elected, we do now promise to bring to the discharge of the duties of the office, the best of courtesy, fidelity and intelligence we possess.

JUST COMMON SENSE

Before using glasses at all one should be convinced that the Oculist or Optician whom you consult should be men of ability and integrity. Neglect to carefully investigate this important matter has cost many individuals considerable eye troubles and many dollars besides.

The broad and varied experience, the good business judgment and high moral character of each employe of our firm is ample assurance that when you eyes are in our care they are carefully safeguarded.

It is to this feature, mainly, that our firm owes its phenomenal success.
